HGH administrator defends cash policy

Injured Diamondhead residents directed to Gulfport hospital

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Ed Friloux, Diamondhead Fire Department fire safety administrator, is recommending all residents of that community with emergency medical problems seek treatment at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

Friloux disagrees with the cash only policy of Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis for emergency room treatment.

He said this week that three instances in addition to two recent HGH operation room deaths prompted his decision to refer people away from the local facility.

Phillip Langston, hospital administrator, said Wednesday, "If he (Friloux) wants to recommend people go to Gulfport Memorial, he can, but I feel he should support us now, not fight us."

"There has been no change in our policy for 2.5 years. In the emergency room we take cash, checks, Visa or Master Charge. This is in line with what most hospitals are doing," the administrator stated.

Langston said the hospital does not accept an insurance card or account number as initial payment except from "some industry insurance" company groups.

He was not specific regarding what company employees' insurance documents would be accepted.

Friloux said one of the instances occurred Wednesday morning, May 25 after Prince Reynolds of Diamondhead slashed his left forearm to the bone with a chain saw while cutting down a tree in his back yard.

Reynolds said Tuesday that just after the accident his brother-in-law, Hayward Pitcock of Batesville, took him to the Diamondhead fire station where Capt. Thomas Wansong recommended they seek immediate treatment by driving to the nearest hospital.

The Diamondhead man reported he is a retired Air Force chief master sergeant and maintains Civilian Health and Medical Program for the Uniformed Services Insurance for civilian hospital care just in case he is injured when not in the immediate vicinity of a military medical facility.

After Hancock General emergency room personnel told Reynolds they could not accept CHAMPUS insurance, and it would probably take longer to summon an ambulance to take him to Keesler Air Force Base Medical Center in Biloxi, Pitcock took his brother-in-law to Keesler in his automobile, the Diamondhead resident reported.

Reynolds said due to a loss of about one quart of blood, his blood pressure upon arrival at Keesler was low, about 70 over 30, and he by that time was in shock.

He reported he has high blood pressure which normally results in a reading of 160 over 80 and about one week before the mishap was released from Keesler after suffering a mild heart attack.

Reynolds said he was hospitalized for nine days at Keesler due to the arm injury.

He explained some 30 stitches were needed to rejoin severed tendons and muscles, but the skin wound was not sewn up for six days to allow the drainage of infection and that final operation required 14 more stitches.

"The doctors said it was a miracle I got the entire use of my fingers back," he stated.

Langston said HGH can not accept CHAMPUS insurance claims because the U.S. Department of Defense program will not pay these since the Keesler center is located relatively close to Hancock General.

He added in a "life or death situation" the hospital can accept CHAMPUS insurance patients and emergency room personnel at that time determined Reynolds was not in a life-threatening condition.

But Alan Rod, Keesler public affairs deputy director, said Wednesday that, "In an emergency a CHAMPUS policy holder can go to any civilian facility, but that person is liable for 25 percent of those costs and subject to a $50 deductible."

"There is no distance limitation involved in any emergency," Rod said regarding Reynolds' accident and Langston's statement.

Reynolds added he was sent a $28 bill from Hancock General which lists emergency room and bandage fees.

Friloux also complained the hospital emergency room personnel in a recent telephone conversation said they would not accept his son's insurance company identification as payment and required cash for admittance.

ON THE DOTTED LINE - Robert Fisher, 7, son of Collen Fisher of Bay St. Louis, signs up to read five books during the Summer Reading Program of the Hancock County Library System. Fisher, along with 180 other children, will be participating at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis. "More than 300 children have registered at all three branches of the library system," according to Prima Wusnack, Library System director.

Hancock schools budget delayed

By JUNE M. HEYDT
The budget for the Hancock County School District will be delayed by about two weeks because of a decision to hold the hiring of Bob Hoffman as assistant bookkeeper until the board's next scheduled meeting on June 15, according to Terrell Randolph, superintendent.

The board decided at Tuesday night's meeting to hold over the hiring of an assistant bookkeeper until the full board is present.

In other business, a computer science course will be added to the high school curriculum at Hancock North Central.

The resignations of Barbara Bryant, elementary teacher, and Dorothy Ann Hollis, math teacher at Hancock North Central, were accepted.

The hiring of Linda Keating and Allison Taylor as elementary teachers at Charles B. Murphy Elementary school was approved.

Bids were opened for the purchase of a new electric typewriter for the junior high school office. Bids ranged from $725 to $945. The lowest bid of $725 was accepted from Office Supply of Gulfport for a Silver Reed typewriter.

The superintendent and board members will attend the Mississippi Association of School Administrators meeting in Jackson on June 13-14.

The board approved the reimbursement of $1,387 to Hancock North Central for boiler room expenditures in January as a result of fire.

Approval was passed to advertise for bids for stage curtains for Hancock North Central.

Approval was also granted to advertise for bids for a wet-dry vacuum, floor polisher and floor scrubber for Hancock North Central.

The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 15. Issues to be discussed are Gulf Coast Waste Disposal contract for trash bins; the principals' and superintendent's salary schedule, and the attorney general's opinion on 2 mill tax levy.

Justice approves new district lines

By JUNE M. HEYDT
The redistricting plan presented to U.S. Department of Justice by Hancock County officials was approved late Tuesday afternoon, said Mike Necaise, chancery clerk.

The plan which re-distributes the five county districts to equalize population as reflected in 1980 Census figures was drawn up by the board of supervisors and Gulf Regional Planning Commission staff.

Taken into consideration when drawing up the plan were the miles of road and numbers of bridges to be maintained in order to distribute these responsibilities equally among five supervisors' districts.

Three public hearings were conducted before the final plan was presented in March.

"We are going ahead with establishing new precincts before the August primary," said Election Commissioner Charles Gottschalk. These and polling places will be announced later, he said.

A.A. 'Dolph' Kellar, District Two supervisor and president of the board, said that he and Bert Courge, District One supervisor, are most affected by the change.

Kellar said, "I'm glad it's settled." He also noted that District Two now takes in Pearlinton and the Catahoula precinct.

"Courge took a great deal of Waveland into his district when the lines were changed," said Kellar.

District Three now includes all of Diamondhead which was split under the old lines between Districts Three and Five.

Festival runs smoothly

By JUNE M. HEYDT
"The public was well-mannered and we appreciate it," said Brenda Anderson of the Bay St. Louis Police Department when she mentioned that the festival last Sunday went very smoothly with hardly any trouble.

One or two minor arrests occurred during the festival but, "Nothing big," Anderson continued. She added, "There was one violation of the glass container ordinance and two lost children but on the whole the festival was very nice," Anderson concluded.

County, city to eye shelter funding

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A meeting of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County officials is slated for 7 p.m. Tuesday at Waveland City Hall to discuss funding and management of the Waveland Animal Shelter.

Mayor John Longo of Waveland at a Tuesday night City Board of Aldermen meeting reported officials from the three government entities must decide their roles regarding the newly constructed facility.

When asked if the Hancock County Animal Control Commission would manage the shelter, Longo replied this would be discussed at the meeting.

Most members of the commission resigned several months ago after nearby residents objected to a previously proposed shelter site at the Bay St. Louis sewage oxidation pond.

Members and friends of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society have housed strays at their homes for several years in the absence of an animal shelter.

But many Hancock strays have been taken to the Harrison County Humane Society's shelter in Gulfport and most have been exterminated because of the

Bay teacher to be honored by students

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A reception honoring Mrs. Emily DeMontluzin, retiring language teacher at Bay Senior High School, is planned for the night of June 30.

The organizers of the reception are former students of the Latin and French teacher who retired at the end of the 1982-83 school year.

She is described as a teacher who 'did just a little more' for students throughout her teaching career at Bay High.

Former students, fellow teachers and friends of Mrs. DeMontluzin interested in helping and planning the reception are asked to call either Kathy Bosley Ginn, 467-0121; Melissa Lagarde Brannin, 467-6686; or Belinda Hill Durbin, 467-0643.

Bourg eyes Justice Court East judge position

Hilda L. Bourg, 46, of 88156 Golf Club Drive announces her candidacy for the Justice Court East judge's post.

She and her husband Jerry have two children—Denise, 15, and Kevin, 10.

Bourg is presently Hancock County Park Commission secretary.

She graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in Baton Rouge with a BS degree. She received her master of science degree from Louisiana State University and completed additional graduate studies at the University of Maryland.

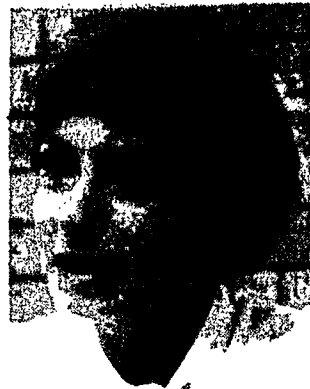

Presently the 1983 United Way chairman, Bourg is a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

After serving as treasurer of the Diamondhead Community Association, she was elected as president in 1982.

She has lived in Hancock County for seven and a half years and is a member of Annunciation Catholic Church.

Bourg says, "I am vitally interested in the concerns of Hancock County and will devote my full time and attention to my duties as Justice Court judge. I will be readily available and will treat each case on an individual basis."

"I feel that my record in Hancock County states that I am a proven civic, community and professional leader. A vote for me will be a vote in the right direction for fair judgement and improvements in Hancock County," she said.

Carmichael to run as an independent candidate

Gil Carmichael will be running as an independent in the race for lieutenant governor.

Carmichael, who is running on a reform ticket, says, "Today we begin a battle for the thousands of Mississippians who want change and want progress and who refuse to tolerate being on the bottom and refuse to accept the status quo that keeps us there."

"This is the year that Mississippi has to make a decision; this is the year when our family must have an argument about the future of the state and about how we are to be governed. The people have always reserved the right to change and reorganize our form of government when it is not responsive to their needs."

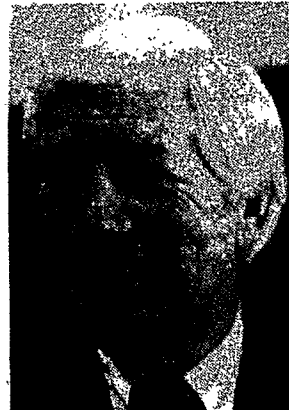

Carmichael, who thinks the state constitution should be changed, said, "The 1890 constitution, the all-powerful legislature, the very weak executive branch, the cluttered and confused judicial system cannot lead our state toward a better future."

"Under the current system, there is no way to launch a program of growth and progress. Our government is run by the caucus of the state legislature. Because of the nature of a legislative body, its membership is responsible to many small fragments of the state and no single elected official is responsible to the state at large."

"While individual legislators may be doing a good job at representing their parts of the state, the legislature is not designed to do a good job at representing the whole state," Carmichael said.

"Our current system of government has no vision of the future. It has no plan or road map for even next year. It only reacts to crisis, and as a result Mississippi keeps slipping back in the economic race it should be winning," Carmichael continued.

"I have great hope for Mississippi. Every single citizen knows that our potential is strong. We are tired of making less money than people in other states. We are ready to get off the bottom. We are ready to take our place in the mainstream of this nation's economic development and growth," he stated.

"And we know that the old constitution and bad state government it created is not going to help move us forward. It has been tested for almost 100 years, and it is a proven failure, even after 75 amendments," the candidate feels.

"I firmly feel that this is the year when our people will rise up and send a message to the legislature, and the message is this — let us have a clear voice in the direction of our future, and help us create a new state government that will move us forward," Carmichael continued.

"Carmichael concluded, saying, "What a major signal it will be for the rest of the nation when the Mississippi people close the chapter in our history that has made us look back instead of forward."

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

Financial Jargon

Half the battle in learning how to manage one's finances is understanding the jargon used in the financial world.

Intelligent money management is necessary for survival. To be in the know let's review the following financial terms:

—Balloon Payment - A final loan payment that is much larger than any of your previous monthly payments.

—Blue-Chip Stocks - Shares of stocks in a well-established, solid company.

—Bond - An IOU from a company promising an investor semi-annual interest and repayment on a given date.

—Capital - Money collected for an investment or retirement purpose.

—Capital Asset - Profit from the sale of an asset. If the assets have been owned for more than a year, you qualify for long-term capital gains treatment and are taxed on only part of your profit.

—Certificate of Deposit (CD) - A specified amount of money left on deposit with a bank for a stated period of time which earns interest at a higher rate than the minimum passbook rate.

—Credit Life Insurance - A type of life insurance policy that pays off a loan in the event of a borrower's death.

—Due-On-Sale Clause - A provision giving a lender the right to declare your mortgage payable when you sell your home, thus preventing a buyer from assuming your low-interest loan.

—Lien - A creditor's legal claim against a house or other property.

—Leverage - Using mostly borrowed money to make an investment.

—Liquidity - The ability to convert your assets into cash quickly.

—Margin Buying - Using stock you already own as collateral to borrow from your stock broker in order to finance additional stock purchases.

—Money Market Funds - A mutual fund that invests only in short-term securities, such as Treasury bills and bank certificates of deposit.

—Municipal Bond - A bond issued by a local government, interest payments are exempt from federal income tax, and in some cases, from state income tax.

—No Fault Insurance - Auto insurance that pays your medical claims regardless of who caused the accident.

—N.O.W. Account - Short for Negotiable Order of Withdrawal. A checking account that pays interest and requires a minimum balance. Super N.O.W.'s pay higher rates but require a minimum balance of $2,500 and may charge maintenance fees.

—Overdraft Checking - An automatic line of credit that allows you to write checks for more money than you have in the account. You need to ask for all the rules and regulations.

—Uniform Gifts to Minor's Account - A law that permits an adult to give cash, stocks and bonds to a minor, but retain control of the assets until his majority.

Military Mention

COL. BURKE

Col. Billy Burke, Keesler Air Force base deputy commander, has stepped into the position of base commander, replacing Col. Max L. Hearn, who has been assigned to the 63rd Civil Engineering Squadron with the Military Airlift Command, Norton AFB, Calif., where he will serve as the base civil engineer.

Colonel Burke joined the Keesler team as deputy commander in March 1982. Prior to his assignment here, he spent nearly three years at the Air Force Academy, Colo., where he served as chief of plans, policies and evaluations. His work at the Academy followed an assignment at the Pentagon where he worked in human resources development.

Quotables by CUEVAS

We were impressed with the large selection of fresh produce available at the Hancock County Farmers Market on Wednesday morning.

The farmers had snap beans, new potatoes, white squash, yellow squash, corn, peaches, honey, vine ripened tomatoes, red beans, bell peppers, beets, sweet potatoes, and many other items.

Farmers Market sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Service and the Hancock County Board of Commerce is located at the Fairgrounds on Highway 101. It is open on Wednesday and Saturday mornings.

The early risers are usually set up by 7 o'clock and out by noon.

Smith, county agent, reports the local farmers have had success with spring gardens, even some had to plant three and four times because of the weather.

I received a telephone call early Monday from a man who was really impressed with the performance of the Bay St. Louis Police Department during the Beachfront Festival Sunday.

He went on to say that every Bay officer should be commended for the professional way they conducted themselves, even with so many persons attending the festival.

In the week also heard comments along the same lines as to how the police did a fine job with the crowd.

Most of the candidates in Hancock County now know their boundaries are with the Justice Department decision late Tuesday.

It seemed as if it was going to take forever for a decision made on the Hancock County Board of Superintending plan which had to be approved by the Justice Department.

I heard to hear that several former students of Emily DeMontluzin are planning a reception on her retirement.

DeMontluzin retired at the end of the school year from the staff of Bay Senior High where she taught Latin and French.

I have to say she has been one of the most dedicated teachers we have known, always giving that extra effort.

The education to students will be missed at Bay Senior High.

The reception will be a success and many of the former students will attend the event.

"WHICH ONE OF YOU GENTLEMEN IS ROSS BARNETT?"

Insurance Institute urges storm season policy review

Will you know what to do if Alicia, Barry, Chantal, Dean, Erin or Felix come calling this year?

Those are the names that will be given to the first of this year's hurricanes; and anyone could duplicate the death and destruction of a Frederic, a Camille or a Betsy.

The Insurance Information Institute is offering a free "Hurricane Survival Checklist" to Gulf Coast residents. You can obtain your copy by calling a toll-free number: 800-211-4954.

An important part of your survival preparations should include a check of your insurance coverage.

Most property insurance policies would only cover damage caused by the winds of a hurricane, not damage caused by flooding or by the tidal surge.

If you live in a coastal or in a low-lying area, you would need to purchase a special policy from the federal government to be protected against damage from flooding.

You should check that inflation has not caused your home to be underinsured. The amount of your homeowners coverage should be equal to at least 80 percent — and preferably 100 percent — of your home's replacement cost.

If you meet this 80-percent criteria, your policy will usually pay the full amount of any loss — less only your deductible — up to the limits of your policy.

You should also check the amount of insurance on your personal possessions. A homeowners policy automatically includes coverage for your personal property for an amount equal to 50 percent of the amount of insurance on your home.

The policy, however, limits the amount you can collect on selected items, such as coins, fur, jewelry, watches and stamps.

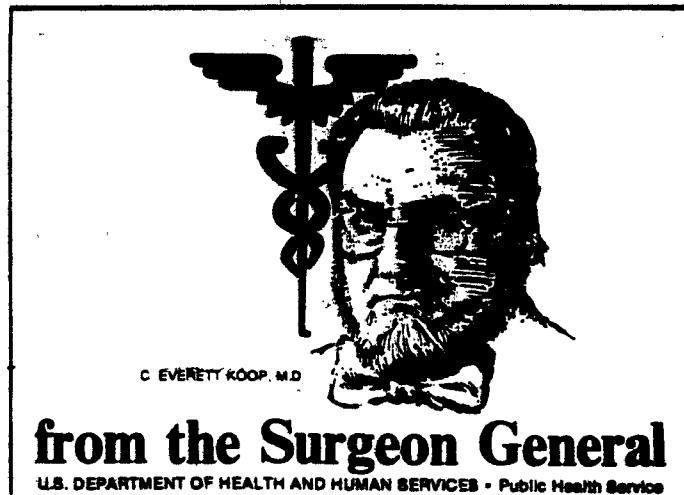

The best way to tell if you have enough insurance on your possessions is to take an inventory. The inventory should include a brief description of each item, the date it was purchased and its cost now.

Since your inventory will also be needed in case you have a loss, keep it in a safe place where it will not be destroyed along with your possessions.

You might also want to consider purchasing "replacement cost" insurance for your possessions.

This insurance would replace your destroyed property without regard to the amount, within certain limits, of its depreciation.

If you need additional insurance, have questions about your coverage or want more information about insurance for a hurricane, contact your insurance agent.

High Blood Pressure Can Be Controlled

Having your blood pressure checked takes only a minute or two of your time, but if you're among the 60 million Americans whose blood pressures are higher than they ought to be, this quick and simple procedure may prove to be the most important medical test you'll ever have.

High blood pressure, you should know, is a potentially dangerous disease. It is primarily responsible, in fact, for the half million strokes that occur in this country each year. About 165,000 of those strokes are fatal.

But high blood pressure can be effectively treated. There are steps that you can take to lower your blood pressure, in other words, and when you lower your blood pressure, or bring it under control, you reduce your chances of having a serious complication, such as a stroke or a heart attack. Over the past ten years, thanks in large part to the things we have learned about high blood pressure and to the emphasis we have placed on treating it, deaths from stroke have declined by more than 42 percent.

Our ability to deal with high blood pressure was a long time coming. As recently as the late 1960's, scientists still did not know when or at what blood pressure level, treatment should be initiated. They did not know whether control of high blood pressure was possible for everyone or whether successful control would lead to corresponding reductions in death rates.

A long-term clinical trial, initiated by the National Institutes of Health in the early 1970's, answered all of those questions, in dramatic style. Treatment of high blood pressure, this study found, even treatment of so-called "mild" high blood pressure, resulted in significantly fewer deaths from strokes and heart attacks.

Evidence that high blood pressure control works and that people believe in its benefits is not hard to find today.

Sacred Heart brother salutes City Hall worker

May 25, 1983
Editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

The time has come in my estimation to pay tribute to a hardworking man, devoted to his job and much appreciated by those he works for. I'm referring to Blackie Saucier at City Hall.

As often as I pass City Hall during the day, there he is putting up the flag, tending to the flowers, weeding, cutting the grass, etc., etc., etc.

This man is from the old school: despite failing health, he is intent on putting in an honest day's work for an honest day's pay.

It's refreshing to see workers who still take pride in their work and are bent on service.

"May his tribe increase..."
Blackie, I salute you.

Sincerely yours,
Brother Warren, S.C.

LETTERS POLICY

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers on subjects of general interest. Letters must be signed and include address or phone number so that the sender can be contacted by the newspaper if necessary. CLASSROOMS
BUT NO TEXTBOOKS
How would you feel about classrooms with no textbooks for public school children next September?

An unlikely prospect?

Don't be too sure. That's the prospect Mississippi's public school children face next fall, thanks to legislative squabbling in the latter days of the 1983 session of the Legislature.

It seems that the House and Senate couldn't agree on the language for extending the life of the state's Textbook Commission, and lawmakers never got around to resolving the conflict. Meanwhile determination was made that the Governor could extend the life of the Commission by executive order.

Then the Legislature tied the Commission's $5 million appropriation to a requirement that the agency, which manages distribution of state textbooks to the public schools, receive the funding only if its life was extended in the 1983 regular legislative session, thus eliminating the Governor's executive order alternative.

Now the state faces two choices, either operate the public schools without textbooks, or call a special session of the Legislature to correct the error.

Neither alternative is ideal, but schools without textbooks are absolutely unacceptable.

So, look for another legislative session — another governmental expense which taxpayers shouldn't have to bear.

Thanks to you...
it works...

lack of local temporary animal housing. The mayor reported Hancock may not participate because it has no legislative authority to fund animal control operations.

But County Sheriff Ronald Peterson has repeatedly noted Hancock's increasing animal problems particularly with stray dogs.

The three governments each contributed funds for construction of the shelter located at the end of Gulfside Drive near Central Station, the mayor noted.

Longo also reported a dedication and open house for the recently constructed shelter is planned for July 2 at a yet to be established time.

The mayor said just after the shelter dedication a ribbon cutting for the city's new water tower on US-90 will also be conducted.

ministrator said on Monday, May 9 his teenage son Steven fell down stairs at St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis.

Later that evening his son developed a knot on his right elbow and lost his grip in two fingers, Ed Friloux reported.

"I called Hancock General and told them I have insurance. They said I would have to have cash, but they would help me fill out insurance forms," he stated.

Friloux said he decided to take his son to Gulfport Memorial where he received care immediately without question.

Langston stated, "I talked to Friloux once about this and I'm willing to talk this over with him."

"I've gone over this several times with him. The board (HGH Board of Trustees) set up this policy several years ago and we ask cash for emergency room treatment," he reiterated.

When asked if the hospital is attempting to avoid the necessary paperwork for filing insurance claims, Langston replied, "If someone needs emergency treatment we will give it to them and complete the necessary insurance forms."

Langston emphasized Friloux was not told that the hospital would assist him in filling out the insurance forms to recover the required cash payment.

Friloux's third complaint is that the hospital delayed in sending proper documentation to an insurance company after treating Don SanFilippo, a Diamondhead firefighter and emergency medical technician, after he was involved in an accident while driving the department's rescue unit several months ago.

The fire safety administrator said two or three months after SanFilippo received treatment, the hospital began sending Diamondhead requests for payment and notices that a collection agency would soon handle the matter.

Friloux said Hartford Insurance Co. notified him that HGH would not send the necessary itemized statement so the company could reimburse the hospital. In addition, Friloux said, the insurance company later sent Hancock General a letter reminding them to do so.

The Diamondhead project manager finally called the hospital to request the necessary itemized statement be sent to Hartford and it was finally mailed, Friloux reported.

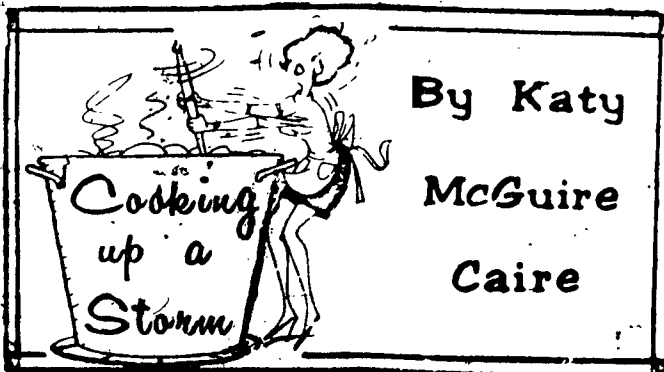

Langston defended the hospital's actions, stating, "All insurance companies have different rules and regulations. All we are doing is providing a service and as a courtesy we file insurance papers as all hospitals do."

He said there are about 30 or more health insurance companies with different claims filing requirements.

"We do have problems finding out how these companies work," he added.

Regarding the hospital's obligation to provide a certain amount of charity care for indigent persons based on the Federal Hill-Burton Act funding utilized to initially build the Hancock facility, Langston said HGH has fulfilled that requirement by providing some $500,000 in such services.

"We had a voluntary amount to fulfill and that has been filled. It's usually over 20 years, but we elected to pay it off early," he added.

FEMALE PRISONERS

More than 30 female former World War II prisoners of war were honored in Washington last month for their valiant service helping the wounded during the battles of Bataan and Corregidor. The group attended various ceremonies, including a meeting with President Reagan, during their visit to the nation's capital.

I can never quite make up my mind whether gazpacho, that famed Spanish summer treat, is a soup-salad or a salad-soup, but whatever it is, it's the answer on a sultry summer day here on our sun-drenched Coast or in sunny Spain... remember, "the rain in Spain falls mostly on the plain" and not on all the fields!

Like so many of our classic dishes, gazpacho came about as an answer to necessity... the good housewives in the countryside of Spain would bring this ever-so-pungent soup, in cool earthen jugs, to the workers in the fields on hotter than hot days for their midday sustenance.

All it is, really, is a fresh vegetable soup with fresh herbs, well-chilled before serving... and if you don't add much of the water or stock, it's really a salad... and if you add a little plain or flavored gelatin, it's a molded salad or aspic or appetizer or whatever you need that day. (That's the secret of good cooking: change around, improvise, make it fit the occasion or the need!)

Gazpacho is often known as "Spanish Soup" or "Garden Soup." And when you serve it, let the color shine through, whether you're using great-grandma's heirloom cut glass or those glass bowls or cups you found at the latest garage or yard sale.

And if you really want that extra-tang, don't forget the generous dash of Tabasco... some say that I even put Tabasco on ice cream. I don't, though I sometimes use a dash of cayenne on vanilla ice cream, try it sometime; but to me, hot pepper sauce does so much for so many dishes.

So, here's a basic recipe, add your own variations, as you wish. Here's

GAZPACHO

3 large, ripe tomatoes, peeled and seeded

1 large bell (green) pepper, seeded, white membrane removed

1 or 2 cloves garlic, chopped

1/2 cup olive oil

1 cup of mixed herbs (basil, chives, parsley, tarragon, etc.) or 1 tsp. oregano

3 Tbsp. lemon juice (or vinegar)

3 cups chilled water or vegetable stock

1 onion, peeled and chopped

1 cucumber, peeled, seeded and chopped

(Tabasco, pepper, salt to your taste)

1/2 cup or so dry bread crumbs

Chop fine, as above... or, if you want to be even more authentically Spanish countryside, mash in a mortar the onion, garlic, and parsley.

Chop the tomato, cucumber and green pepper, then add the garlic and onion combination, and sort of mash it all together.

Next, add the olive oil a little at a time, then the lemon juice and herbs or oregano, and mix it all together well. If you're using the water or stock, add it at this point. Chill well. Just before you serve it, sprinkle each bowl or cup with some of the bread crumbs. (For six servings, easily doubled.)

Thanks, Sam J. Perniciaro

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Beat 4 and Hancock County for the trust and confidence that was put in my first and second primaries in the Democratic elections.

To be unopposed is a pleasure and I will continue to support the county as a whole for new industry, for better schools, a modern hospital and to work with other officials toward a new facility for the jail.

I will continue to work for the people in District 4 as I have for the past 7 1/2 years to improve the drainage, and to resurface as many roads as possible.

Yours very truly,

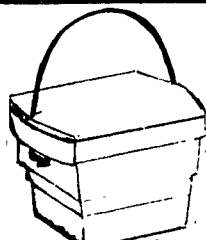

Sam J. Perniciaro, Sr.

Thompson announces candidacy for state senator position

Russell D. Thompson has announced his candidacy for state senator from District 46. He is a Republican.

Thompson lives in Ocean Springs with his wife, Lucy Mobley. They have two children, Melissa, who attends the University of Mississippi, and Douglas, a student at Ocean Springs High School.

He has established his law practice in Ocean Springs where he is active in civic and professional groups.

He is past president of the Ocean Springs Chamber of Commerce and is currently president of the United Way for Jackson County.

Thompson graduated from Millsaps College in Jackson in 1959. He graduated in 1964 from the University of Mississippi School of Law. He has a juris doctor degree and later studied public administration and received a master's degree from Auburn University in 1974.

He practiced law for two years in Jackson before entering the United States Air Force as a judge advocate. He served on active duty in the Air Force for ten years and is a veteran of Vietnam.

He has continued his Air Force service as a member of the Ready Reserve as a judge advocate mobilization augmentee at Keesler Air Force Base. He is selected for promotion to lieutenant colonel.

Thompson is a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Ocean Springs and the American Legion. He is a board member of the Air Force Association, John Stennis Chapter and a member of the Ocean Springs Historical Preservation Commission. He is a member of the Federal, American, Mississippi and Jackson County Bar Associations.

Thompson says, "I have announced my candidacy as a Republican because I believe the Republican Party is an effective political element, which has inherently stressed practical conservatism in government."

Thompson states that he is also progressive. He believes that government should seek to adopt contemporary changes for the benefit of those whom it serves.

Thompson says he is prepared to devote his energy and talents not only to keeping costs of government down and in line with reasonable expectations, but also in improving educational interests and standards for the overall benefit of the state.

Thompson stated, "There needs to be continuing attention to long range planning for the state to build a better educational product in its graduates from high school and college. Mississippi is blessed with an abundance of hard working, intelligent people, but we lose too frequently the best of our own people who take jobs and positions in business and industry out of state."

"We have the potential capabilities for the best educational and business interests right here in Mississippi, and particularly here on the Coast. I want to see Mississippi develop sound programs for education and business that will produce effective results," Thompson said.

District Three supervisor running for re-election

Roger Dale Ladner announces his candidacy for re-election to District Three supervisor.

Ladner and his wife Margaret have two sons, Brad 15, and Jody, 9.

He is a graduate of Hancock North Central High School and attended Phillips business college.

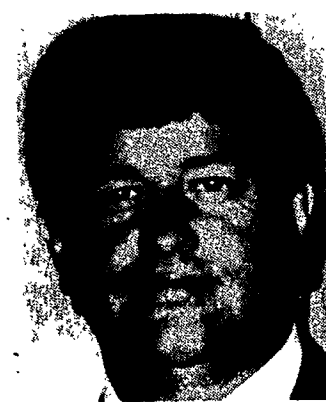

A supervisor for the last three and a half years, Ladner was a Justice of the Peace from 1972-76.

A native of Standard Community, Ladner says, "It has been an honor and privilege to serve the people of District Three as supervisor for the past three and a half years."

Throughout the course of my term in office I have worked in a spirit of harmony and cooperation with the people of my district and also all elected officials of the county.

If re-elected I plan to continue working for and in the best interest of not only District Three but all the people of Hancock County.

ROGER DALE LADNER

School's out, AAA urges driver care

Playing ball in the streets, darting from behind parked cars and riding bicycles, children across the country have begun their summer escape from the nation's schools, reminds the American Automobile Association.

"Unfortunately," says Bob Fry, director of public affairs for AAA Central Gulf, "the joy and excitement of summer vacation too often turns into tragedy. When our roads and streets are used as playgrounds, the unwary driver is exposed to sudden and, sometimes, fatal risks." "The end result is something we don't like to contemplate...something we will never erase from our minds if it occurs."

AAA calls on drivers to beware of the increased need for caution during this high risk period. This need is particularly acute when driving in the vicinity of playgrounds, recreational areas, in residential neighborhoods, at intersections where visibility is poor and when making turns at corners or on curves. Fry notes certain time periods may also be more dangerous than other such as when you can expect children to be returning home for lunch or at dusk when vision is impaired.

Parents are also asked to encourage their children to be extra careful during the vacation months. Taking time now to warn youngsters of potential dangers in the area where they live could mean the difference between a carefree summer and days or weeks of recovery...or worse.

Parents who are members of organized groups such as churches or neighborhood associations can contact Fry to arrange for the loan of films and materials that will help build awareness of the problem. Address inquiries to Bob Fry, American Automobile Association, 3445 North Causeway Blvd., Metairie, La. 70002.

THE STREETS OF SAN FRANCISCO
San Francisco is a city that stimulates your senses.

From its raw, rugged Pacific coastline to the quiet calm of the Bay, San Francisco is a study of contrasting art and architecture. Chinatown, nestled a few blocks away from Nob Hill, positively glows with its Oriental neon signs, bargains on everything from soap to shoes and the omnipresent aroma of glorious Chinese cuisine.

The Sausalito Ferryboat takes you across the Bay for three dollars one-way. The nominal cost is worth the view; what with the San Francisco skyline receding in the distance, leaving only the monumental TransAmerica Building as a reference point.

On past Alcatraz, the closed and forgotten federal prison—if there ever was a literal, symbolic prison, Alcatraz was it.

Can you imagine...a judge orders you to spend 30 years of your life in a nine-foot by six-foot cell with a Bay view, San Francisco and the wondrous Golden Gate Bridge looming in the touchable distance, with yachts and sleek, smooth sailing ships darting in and out of the industrial shipping lanes.

The imagery would be unbearable...huge tankers from around the world passing while flocks of seagulls with their mocking laughter float on a cool, brisk wind filled with the smell of salt and freedom...

...On to Sausalito, a paradise perched precariously on the side of a mountain. The harbor filled to overflow with fine boats of all shapes and sizes. The lawns manicured like golf greens. This place just exudes class! No trash anywhere...only fine foods, crystal, clothes and the warmth of the sun making you lazy. Back to the ferryboat for the 45-minute return trip to the city.

An unavoidable circumstance dampens your romantic spirit momentarily—the cable cars are being restored and the tracks, throughout the city, are being replaced. They are said to be running again by the summer of 1984...ready for another 100 years of service.

Not to worry though, because the buses run from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. every 15 minutes. The fare is 60 cents, transfers are free and the advice from the bus drivers is most helpful.

Take a bus and travel down Geary Street past Japantown, across Park Presidio until you reach Ocean Beach. Hike to the top of the hill, noticing the brutal landscape resembling hardened lava flow and make your way down into the alcove beneath the restaurant-bar, "The Cliff House."

Pick your way through the ruins of some building erroneously placed too close to the angry Pacific. Out you go, along a ridge of rocks, being careful to time your approach with the crashing of the waves or else you chance being swept out to sea.

You climb the jutting, jagged rocks and, once on top, you breathe deeply and eye another set of rocks not more than one hundred yards away. Languishing about these seaweed stones are sea lions, resting and sunning themselves, occasionally bellowing out.

The largest of the sea lions occupies a space all his own, at the top of the rock pile. All the while the ocean continues to bash the shoreline, transforming a blue-green wave into a crashing display of exploding white surf.

The magnificent beauty of pure nature, so close to the heart of the city.

So many places to go in San Francisco...to the north, the wine country with its tender vineyards of grapes; to the south, the length of California and its majestic coastline,

U.S. magistrate today eyes Bay suit dismissal motion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The City of Bay St. Louis' attorney to day in Biloxi will ask a United States magistrate to dismiss a $200 million class action suit by residents in the annexed area of the city.

John M. Roper, U.S. Southern District of Mississippi magistrate, will consider a motion filed by Joseph Gex, city attorney, to dismiss the suit, a spokesman in Roper's office reported this week.

The motion will probably be discussed with attorneys in the magistrate's chambers and ruled upon later that day, the spokesman said.

Billy Gibson, a Bay attorney, filed the suit several months ago on behalf of annexed area residents basically charging they are illegally taxed and deprived of city services, federal court records indicate.

Plaintiffs listed in the suit are Dr. A.C. Martinolich, Robert Heitzmann, Charles Hirsutus, Michael M. Harris and Norma B. Favre.

Defendants include the City of Bay St. Louis; Mayor Larry Bennett; Councilman Gene Taylor; Wilmer Seymour, James Thrifley III and Harry Farve; and Tax Collector Estelle Johnson.

Gex's motion, filed Jan. 20, states, "...the complaint fails to state a claim against the City of Bay St. Louis," and "does not allege any deprivation of a right..."

The records show Gex also filed a motion on Sept. 29 'for more time.'

Dan M. Russell Jr., chief U.S. District Court judge, on Sept. 8 removed himself from hearing the case because he owns property in the annexed area and is a former Bay City Court judge, the records indicate.

The suit documents drafted by Gibson complaints there are, "Common questions of law and fact affecting the right of citizens of the alleged annexed area to be free from unlawful and unequal taxation and discrimination in the providing of municipal services."

The suit demands the city, "to enjoin from taxation in 'the alleged annexed area...repay with interest all illegal tax...and equal city services under court supervision.'

Gibson states in the documents that a Hancock County Chancery Court petition to annex the area in question is missing from county records, but the Chancery Court docket book indicates the matter was scheduled for an April 11, 1967 hearing.

On April 18, 1976 the court ordered the city to install gas, water and sewage lines and lighting within five years which the city 'has not yet done,' Gibson writes.

"The annexation procedure was void and a nullity as a result of a civil conspiracy as aforesaid," the suit states.

Gibson reports in a statement of damages that residents were illegally taxed since April 18, 1967 and deprived of municipal services.

The deprivation caused inconvenience, hazards to safety, damage and injury to property, hazards to health, and greater property value depreciation, the suit charges.

The annexed area residents seek $100 million in 'conspiracy damages for the civil fraud perpetrated on them' and $100 million in 'punitive damages,' the documents indicate.

ELECT
SUPERVISOR
DISTRICT THREE

I would like to announce my platform as a candidate for Board of Supervisors of District 3, Hancock County and tell you a little about myself.

As most of you know I have served 6½ years as Justice Court Judge for District 3, a position my wife currently holds.

PLATFORM TO GET THINGS HAPPENING:

- ROAD PROGRAMS-Our roads are deteriorating, so we need to upgrade and pave all roads in district three.
- WORK PROGRAMS-Initiate a program to work people in emergency situations on a rotating basis. This program's to be for the unemployed elderly, and handicapped, with low fixed incomes. A few days of work could mean everything to these people.
- EMPLOYMENT-Investigate thoroughly as to why Hancock County has one of the highest percentages of unemployment in our state. And also look into the matter as to why so many Hancock natives have to seek employment elsewhere.
- COMMUNITY MEETINGS-Hold community meetings every three months to discuss the problems of the people and secure their ideas on current items of importance for Hancock County. These meetings would be spread over District Three.
- EQUAL REPRESENTATION-Every community in District Three will be represented by equal spending of tax dollars. I feel tax dollars should not be spent for only a few areas of District Three, but should be shared among the entire district.
- SUMMER PROGRAMS-Summer programs should be developed to work high school and college students with families having financial difficulties. And most of all, encourage our youth to continue their educations.

New beach maintenance program subject of meeting

By JUNE M. HEYDT

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors called a special meeting for Monday, June 13 at 2:30 p.m. to discuss the appointment of a beach maintenance committee.

Bert Courge, board member, said he has spoken with John Longo, mayor of Waveland, about entering into a joint venture to be shared among the governments of the county, Bay St. Louis and Waveland, then jointly apply for financial help for maintenance of the beach road and beaches.

Courge said, "We should see if we can't get some federal funding to pump up the beach." He also noted, "We need to do something right away to protect the beach. Every time a hurricane hits it takes a little more of the beach with it. Our main industry is tourism and we're going to lose a lot of it because we don't have the beaches."

"We should make a request to Trent Lott's office asking for a representative to be sent to meet with us," Courge said.

Walter Gex, board attorney, said, "My personal opinion is that we should try to find a source of funding for an ongoing maintenance program."

"If a maintenance fund were available, I believe you could get funds to have sand pumped in," Gex said.

"You won't get anyone to pump sand in if it would just wash away," Gex added.

The beach was last pumped in 1965. Six years later many parts of the beach were washed away by hurricane Camille, said one board member.

Board members noted that without a protective sand berm, repairs to the adjacent boulevard are needed even after lesser storms.

The beach was built by the U.S. Corps of Engineers, but maintenance of the road and beach was left to local and state officials.

Until two years ago when it was transferred to the urban roads system, the state Highway Department maintained the boulevard.

"What is necessary are funds available for dredging maintenance every two years," Gex added.

"We've got to figure out a way to get funding; look into different agencies; and find somebody to head the beach road property."

Courge suggested, "Why don't we appoint a four-man committee to look into a plan."

Board members agreed to contact Lott's office and Senator John Stennis's office requesting representatives to come to the Monday meeting.

A representative from the State Park Agency will also be invited to attend the meeting.

The supervisors approved an agreement presented by John Scafield of the Hancock County Planning Commission and signed by P. Holcomb Hector, vice president of Purcell Co., Inc., owners of Diamondhead.

The agreement states that the firm will not sell any of the lots in two subdivisions, one located south of Interstate 10 on each side of the interchange and the other near the Diamondhead Country Club on Diamondhead Drive, until the construction of streets and utilities is completed or the plats are vacated.

The agreement also allows Purcell to remain on file without the necessity of having to immediately install the improvements required by the Hancock County Subdivision Regulations.

Purcell agrees not to sell any of the real property which makes up the two subdivisions unless the required improvements have been installed and approved.

A breach of the agreement would result in setting aside any sales or transfers of the property, according to the agreement.

In other business, Dr. M.R. White, president of Pearl River College, read a letter in reply to a request by the board regarding scholarships at the college.

The letter stated that there are several factors to be considered when looking at the number of scholarships from an area.

One is population and number of high school seniors. Another factor is the financial support of the Junior College by the counties.

White concluded in the letter that he has talked with the coaches about public relations in Hancock County. He said they will be working to improve relationships with the people of the Hancock area.

White also noted that he is available to come and talk with any civic or school sponsored organization about the services offered by the college.

The Division of State Air Road Construction office has approved the state aid project for the following roads, Kiln-Picayune, Flat Top, Caesar-Necaise, Kiln-Delisle. The project is to widen and overlay. The project also includes various repairs to bridges and drainage structures.

The supervisors approved and accepted for filing the final plan of Bienville Estates, Phase 1, on the recommendation of the Hancock County Planning Commission. The plan complies with the requirements of the Subdivision Regulations.

A court order was read appointing Gayle Parker as court administrator, her salary will be $18,280. The order also included Paula Parkinson as her assistant with a salary of $11,220 and Vickie Gremillion as clerk with a salary of $9,922.

These salaries are paid with funds from the county judges of $2,000 each with Harrison County paying 85 percent, Hancock County 10 percent but not to exceed $4,000, and Stone County paying 5 percent.

Hilda Bourg, treasurer of Hancock County Park Commission, told the board that the additional 24 RV campsites at McLeod Water Park are now ready for the services promised by the supervisors. The board offered their services for clearing brush, providing fill, donating wooden poles for security lights and constructing gravel roadways. Sam Pernicario said, "I'm going to send out equipment and men to the campsites."

The Pearl River Basis Development District is funding the entire project except for the engineering services which are provided by the county.

The county will operate and maintain the park.

PUBLIC NOTICES "BECAUSE THE PEOPLE A MUST KNOW"

TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE
WHEREAS, on December 19, 1979, Thomas L. Brown and Carolyn P. Brown, his wife, executed a Deed of Trust in favor of Aaron D. Adams, Trustee for Salanco, Inc., a Mississippi corporation, which Deed of Trust is on file and of record in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, in Deed of Trust Record Book 224, at Pages 625-626 thereof; and
WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness and non-payment of taxes, secured by said Deed of Trust, and having been requested by the legal holders of the indebtedness secured and described by said Deed of Trust to do so, notice is hereby given that I, Aaron D. Adams, Trustee, by virtue of the authority conferred upon me in said Deed of Trust, will offer for sale and will sell at public sale and outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash, during legal hours (beginning at 10 o'clock A.M. and ending at 4 o'clock P.M.) at the main front door of the County Courthouse of Hancock County at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, on the 1st day of July, 1983, the following described land and property, being the same land and property described in said Deed of Trust, situated in Hancock County, State of Mississippi, to wit:
Beginning at an iron pin in the fence that bounds the South side of the subdivision known as "Pecan Ridge Place" and recorded in the registry of deeds in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi, 140 feet West of the southeast corner of Lot 2, Block B, in said subdivision; running thence with this fence 119 feet; thence North 100 feet; thence East with the lot 970 feet; thence South 80' 40" E. 240.7 feet; thence South 72.4 feet to the POB and containing 4.60 acres of proposed Future Development in "Pecan Ridge Place, Hancock County, Mississippi," in accordance with survey attached to Warranty Deed from Salanco, Inc. to Thomas E. Brown and Carolyn P. Brown, dated December 10, 1979; and recorded in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.
Title to the above described property is believed to be good; but I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Trustee.
WITNESS MY SIGNATURE, this 1st day of June, A.D. 1983.

Wilcox attends Amtrak meeting

By JUNE M. HEYDT
Funding for a proposed rail passenger service between Mobile and New Orleans for the 1984 World's Fair was sought at a meeting with Amtrak officials in Washington Wednesday.

Mississippians who attended the meeting were developer Delmar Wilcox of Waveland, former Biloxi Mayor Jerry O'Keefe and Hank Chrisman of Moss Point.

Fred Wise, transportation manager with the state Department of Energy and Transportation, said the proposed rail service would cost $2.5 million. The train would make stops along the Coast on its way to the fair.

Wise said the immediate problem is obtaining funding for the system. The three states making up the transit commission had not committed funds for the project, and Amtrak is having financial troubles, said Wise.

Work on the rail service will have to begin soon if it is to be working when the fair opens in May 1984, said Wise.

AWARD WINNER—Executive producer Ed Van Cleef from Mississippi ETV produced, directed and edited a video portrait of Gulf Coast artist Dusty Bonge that was recently awarded a CINE Golden Eagle. CINE, the Council on International Nontheatrical Events, is an international film festival. Its professional juries selected the half-hour program "Dusty Bonge, The Life of an Artist" to represent the United States in international film and videotape festivals abroad. The program profiles artist Dusty Bonge of Biloxi, whose abstract paintings have been shown at the Museum of Modern Art and other major New York City galleries.

Petition praises city for Main Street work

By ELLIS CUEVAS
A petition by merchants and professionals has been submitted to the Bay St. Louis Mayor and Council offering praise on recent Main Street improvements.

The petition read at the council's Tuesday meeting by Eddie Favre, city clerk, was signed by 21 professionals and merchants located on Main Street between Beach Boulevard and Second Street.

The petition stated, "The undersigned merchants and professionals located on Main Street between Beach Boulevard and Second Street wish to take this opportunity to express our pleasure with the appearance, safety conditions, and over-all improvements of Main Street since its refurbishing earlier this year."

"Since we freely spoke of our disappointment over last year's delays and the inconvenience to our customers and clients, we feel we owe it to the city fathers to offer praise for a job well done," the document states.

"The engineers, contractors and city crews also deserve praise for working rapidly and efficiently under conditions that were less than desirable, with vehicular and foot traffic moving about, and the ever-present potential for mishaps, which fortunately did not occur."

"In summary, the street is beautiful, safe and convenient, and a credit to the community."

The Bay Council entered the petition in its minutes for the meeting.

FAA awards $184,626 for airport

By JUNE M. HEYDT
An airport improvement grant for $184,626 has been awarded for work to be done at Stennis International Airport in Bay St. Louis. Senator Thad Cochran's office announced Wednesday afternoon.

He said the Department of Transportation grant is for improvements at Stennis International Airport at Bay St. Louis.

The funding under the Federal Aviation Administration's airport improvement program was to help reconstruct Taxiway E and clean and seal runway 17-35 at the air field, reported the Senator's office spokesman.

Director of Ethics Commission resigns

McComb Mayor Newton James announced Tuesday, after a special city board meeting, that Larry Burris has accepted an offer to become McComb's first full-time city administrator.

Burris is director of the Mississippi Ethics Commission. His resignation from the ethics post is effective June 30. Burris, 34, who was born in Amite County but reared in McComb, will have responsibility over all city services and department heads and be answerable directly to the McComb board of selectmen, James said.

Burris will start his job in McComb on July 1.

THE GORING OF WHOSE OX?

In the wake of the 1983 Pearl River flood a frantic search has commenced for a storage place for the next round of floodwaters whenever—and two Mississippi communities are being drawn toward a closer scrutiny of an age old question of whose ox is to be gored.

The communities are Jackson and Carthage—primarily. The issue is a possibly prematurely offered straw-in-the-wind in the form of a proposed Shoccoe dam above the Barnett reservoir. And the lines of contention are clearly drawn between Jackson's wounded reputation as a safe and sensible city in which to center this state's major resources, and the county seat city of Carthage located in the geographic dead center of the state and 50 miles by car upstream from Jackson on the Pearl River.

Before evidence is in on scientific feasibility questions of another dam upstream from Jackson, there comes a clamor to beat the drums for a special session of the Mississippi legislature to supply immediate funding for the presumptive effective project. Amid drumbeats last week this writer visited Carthage and Leake county to look closer at the ox that would be gored in that area if another dam indeed should be built to raise floodwater levels above the Barnett reservoir. The visit was timely since Leake county and Carthage were drying out from farm and municipal flooding to depths comparable to those at Jackson. Farmers were trying to get back into their fields to replant vast acreages of cotton, wiped out by the floodwaters. In plant acreage not yet planted because of the wetness of their fields.

Leake county farmers are hurting bad enough already from the farm recession, but a recent regular monthly meeting of the Leake County Farm Bureau was dominated not by high production costs in combination with low prices—but by the electrifying news of what a new dam above the Barnett reservoir would do to them.

Despite some published reports that such a dam would put short-term floodwaters on some "pastures and woodlands" upstream from the Barnett reservoir, Leake county farmers know that assessment is a drastic understatement of fact.

Jimmie D. Arthur is a cotton farmer on the south side of Highway 16 about eight miles west of Carthage. Most of his cottonfields were submerged by the flood just ending. Cotton already up was struggling to survive after the waters receded. As this writer left the farm Arthur mounted his tractor to disk and hasten the drying of other acreage yet to be planted in cotton—already past the optimum planting deadline.

Farther down the road toward Carthage Herman Murphy and his son Hubert were driving a tractor into an 80 acre field of cotton that had been submerged for 8 1/2 days. Some of it was washed out, some was still lying down, and some was recovering in the sun. They will replant about 20 acres and hope the rest will yield a good crop despite early damage.

During the height of the flood Murphy and a neighbor had been forced to corral over 100 head of cattle and move them to another farm to save them from drowning. That's without another dam above the Barnett one to bring floodwaters several feet higher in their area.

Murphy and his wife purchased their 398 acre farm on Highway 16 in 1945. They grow cotton and cattle and have in the past operated several sprawling broiler houses and a feed mill behind their brick home. If the dam is built "it will make us move out", lamented the elderly Murphy.

A little farther down the road toward Carthage we visited the Fontaine Allen farm where 200 acres of cotton had been destroyed. Allen was waiting for the land to dry out so he could replant belatedly.

Just south of Carthage on Highway 35 and near the Pearl River we saw new and expensive homes, and older and less expensive homes, that had been several feet deep in floodwater. Owners were cleaning up. A few were successfully protected by sand-bag dykes.

NOTICE!

I would like to take this opportunity to announce to the people of Hancock County my decision to withdraw my candidacy for Justice Court Judge, West side District.

I am very sorry that due to lack of communications within our party there has been a misunderstanding concerning my candidacy for the office of Justice Court Judge, West side District. Therefore, I am also resigning from the Executive Committee of the Republican Party as of today.

I have been a member of the Republican Party for the past thirty years because I am a firm believer in the two-party system on the local as well as the national level and I am hopeful that the faithful members of the Republican Party will have more unity and forethought in future political campaigns.

Hancock superintendent announces for re-election

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terrell Randolph, 47, has announced his candidacy for re-election to that office.

Randolph, a Democrat, took office in September after winning a special election to fill the unexpired term of Billy D. Sills who was removed from office after pleading guilty to a felony charge.

Prior to that, Randolph served as superintendent from 1976 to 1980 when he lost his re-election bid to Sills by two votes.

"The next four years are very crucial to the state's educational system," said the Hancock County native.

"The new Education Reform Act enacted by the legislature, which included kindergartens, compulsory attendance and special emphasis on reading achievement, is a giant step toward improving the education of our children. I feel I have the qualifications to provide the strong leadership that will be needed during this crucial period," he said.

Randolph graduated from Bay Senior High School, received a bachelor of science degree in secondary education from the University of Southern Mississippi and a master of science degree in school administration and supervision from Mississippi College.

He has 16 years experience as an educator, including four years as a teacher-coach at Hancock North Central High School and five years as Hancock County superintendent of education.

During his first term as superintendent, Randolph said that he initiated the tutorial reading program in the county schools; supported strong vocational-technical programs; expanded the special education program; initiated coast-wide spelling bees; and added art, speech, journalism, general business and economics to the curriculum.

Since September, he has upgraded the system's transportation program with the addition of five new school buses.

"My immediate objectives for the coming year are to provide a computer science program and to upgrade and renovate our science departments," he said.

Randolph is a member of the American Association of School Administrators, the Mississippi Association of School Superintendents and the Mississippi Association of School Administrators.

He is the father of two children.

ASCS NEWS

Crop Certification
USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is asking producers to certify their farm program acreage. Gennin explained the reason for the acreage report and reviewed the certification process.

"Certification is the opportunity we give the farmers to report to us the acreages of crops planted on their farms to determine whether they are eligible to receive the different benefits under the programs we offer."

When the farmer reports to the county ASCS office, he can review the aerial photograph of his farm and pinpoint the fields in which the crops are grown. This information is then recorded and the report serves as documentation for crop acreage bases and program compliance.

Gennin said certification is particularly important to producers of quota crops such as peanuts. In addition to these crops, all other crop acreages must be reported. These include corn, grain sorghum, rice, oats and soybeans.

"Certification is also very important to farmers who are participating in the acreage reduction, paid land diversion and payment-in-kind programs because without an acreage report, they really are not participating," Gennin said.

"They must give us an acreage report in order for us to determine the level at which they will be eligible for the various program benefits." He said the acreage report needs to be as accurate as possible. "We do have a spot check program to check on the accuracy of these reports, so the more accurate the report, the less trouble the farmer has to qualify for the benefits."

In Pearl River and Hancock Counties, the final certification date for corn, grain sorghum, rice, peanuts and soybeans is July 15.

Gennin said that growers not participating in the 1983 programs should also report their acreages since these acreage reports can affect eligibility for future programs.

Diamondhead man eyeing state senator position

Jerry E. Medford, 52, announces his candidacy for state senator, District 46.

Medford, a Diamondhead resident, is a retired federal agent whose 25 years of government service included assignments in the Drug Enforcement Administration, Secret Service and U.S. Customs Service.

He retired in 1981 as southern regional director of Anti-Narcotics Smuggling Division of the U.S. Customs and has worked extensively throughout Mississippi and the Gulf Coast States.

Medford and his wife, Betty, have been married 30 years and have two daughters, Mrs. Deborah Medford, New Orleans; and Mrs. Pamela Young, San Diego, Calif.; and two grandsons.

He holds a BS degree in criminology from the University of Houston, Tex.

Medford says, "I am vitally interested in Mississippi's future. The need for jobs, good education for our youth, support for our farmers and our fishing industry."

He continued, "The one major problem facing us all today is that of drug abuse. All of us are directly or indirectly affected, regardless of our situation."

"We must do something about the growing problem of drugs," he stated. "Statistics show that the majority of our violent crimes are drug related. Breaking and entering, theft and armed robbery are examples."

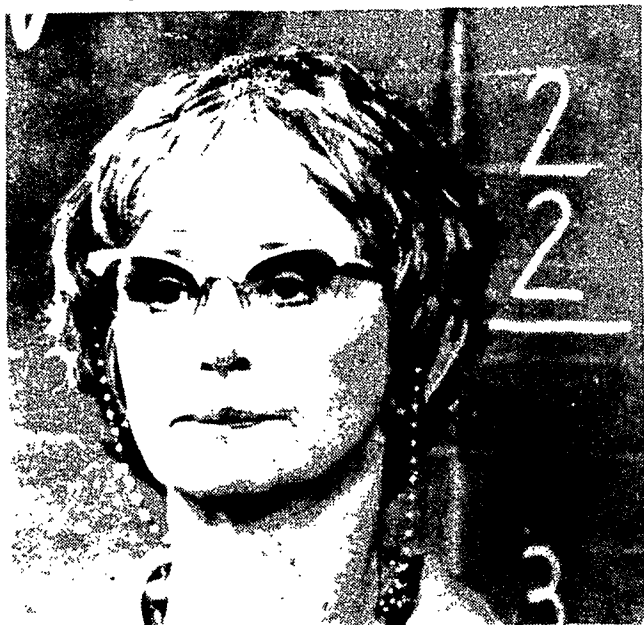

Medford added, "Drugs have a devastating effect on our society, especially on our youth. When caught up in the drug culture, they begin to lose respect for parents, teachers and authorities of any kind."

"I have developed a broad program that addresses the drug abuse problem which also includes working with local and state officials in curbing drug smuggling from South America into our coastal counties."

Medford continued, "If elected, I would work full time on implementing this effective program."

Medford is a veteran of the Korean War and is a member of International Chiefs of Police, and International Association of Narcotics Investigators.

SHE'S WORKING—Barbara Barrie portrays a school teacher in the award-winning musical, "Working," based on Studs Terkel's book and scheduled to be rebroadcast on "American Playhouse" at 10 p.m., Friday, June 10, on the Mississippi ETV Network. In Terkel's book, as well as in the television musical, workers from all walks of life, tell about their jobs, no matter how seemingly menial, and what work means to them. Says Terkel: "Working" is about a search for daily meaning as well as daily bread, for recognition as well as cash, for astonishment rather than torpor; in short, for a sort of life rather than a Monday-through-Friday sort of dying."

The Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Beachfront Festival staff and participating downtown merchants would like to thank the following people for their help and support in making this year's festival the most successful ever.

Johnson announces his candidacy for office

Herman W. Johnson Jr., 28, of Clermont Harbor announced this week his candidacy for the office of constable of District One.

Johnson is the son of the late Lucille and Herman Johnson and the father of a daughter Crystal Lucille Johnson, 3.

A carpenter with Landis Stolte Construction Co., Johnson is an 8th grade graduate of St. Clare's School and a 1973 graduate of St. Stanislaus.

A life-long resident of Clermont Harbor, Johnson said, "I plan to bring this office back to an active part in maintaining the law and order as well as protecting the people of our district. I will also establish working relationship with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and the Waveland Police Department. Your support in helping me win this election will be greatly appreciated."

Ninth Ole Brook Fest slated Aug. 6

The Brookhaven-Lincoln County Chamber of Commerce has scheduled the ninth annual "Ole Brook Festival" Aug. 6. The festival, which will consist of a flea market, arts and crafts show and special interest automobile show, will be held on the Whitworth College campus in downtown Brookhaven from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Any exhibitor interested in reserving space in the festival should contact the Brookhaven-Lincoln County Chamber of Commerce. The price for a 10'x10' exhibit space is $10. Exhibit space will be reserved for the display on a first come, first served basis.

In addition to the regular displays, various clubs and organizations in the community will be operating food concessions. "We expect this year's festival to exceed last year's by a large margin," stated Tom Gertman, festival chairman. "We are interested in having something that everyone can enjoy and admission is free."

Additional information in the form of a brochure and entry form can be obtained by calling or writing the Brookhaven-Lincoln County Chamber of Commerce.

$500 awaits record breakers in Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo

Fishermen who participate in the 35th annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, scheduled here July 1-4 from the small craft harbor, will be seeking monetary reward in addition to vying for an estimated $25,000 in prizes and awards.

For several years, the rodeo has presented $500 government bonds to fishermen breaking established records in any of 25 prize-winning categories, and $500 cash to the angler shattering the existing mark record 377 pounds.

Last year only two records were established, both in salt water categories. Van Every of Jackson caught a 29½ pound red snapper and Wilford Seymour of Biloxi landed a 38-pound jack crevalle.

Every's catch broke the record of 29 pounds established by Walter Nixon of Biloxi in 1966. Nixon is now a federal judge.

Seymour's jack crevalle bettered the old record of Dr. George Sustendahl of New Orleans, set in 1973, by one-half pound.

Jack I. Dedeaux, rodeo president, said he anticipates a record-breaking registration for the 1983 event.

Dedeaux noted that registration is free, but said fishermen must be registered prior to competing for prizes.

Mayor Jack Barnett has proclaimed July 1, 2, 3, 4, 1983 as Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo days in Gulfport.

In a welcoming statement issued for the rodeo program brochure, the mayor extended his wishes for good fishing and an enjoyable July 4th holiday weekend to visitors along Mississippi's Gulf Coast.

Competitive rodeo fishing will begin at 12:01 a.m. on July 1 and will continue through 4 p.m. on July 4 when weighing scales close for the final time.

Scales open each day at 8 a.m. Rodeo headquarters will be located in a trailer adjacent to Robert L. Rice Pavilion, located in the small craft harbor area.

The pavilion will house concession stands, display booths, fish bins, and a stage from which continuous entertainment will be conducted during the four-day period.

There will also be rides, food concessions, and other forms of entertainment on the rodeo grounds to coincide with the rodeo's slogan of "A Carnival of Fun for Everyone."

CHURCH SOFTBALL

Last week OLG No. 1 continued its unbeaten streak, making it four in a row by defeating the Methodists on Thursday.

OLG No. 2 gained revenge over the Episcopalists to even their record. Tuesday's games were called off on account of wet grounds.

At the end of the third week of play OLG No. 1 continues to lead the League with a 4-0 record, followed by the Episcopalists and OLG No. 2 in a tie at 2-2. The Methodists at 2-3 and the Baptists at 0-3 complete the standings.

Tonight OLG No. 1 plays the Baptists in the early game, and OLG No. 2 plays the Methodists in the nightcap. Next Tuesday the Methodists play the Episcopalists, followed by the Baptists against OLG No. 2.

ALUMNI SPORTS

The Department of Intramural-Recreational Sports at the University of Southern Mississippi is inviting active USM alumni members and their families to join the Alumni Recreational Sports Program.

Facilities available for use to members will include the sports arena, natatorium, weight room, racquetball and tennis courts, the Outdoor Adventure Center, Lake and Camp Sehoy and the Equestrian Center.

Those eligible for membership are paid, active alumni members. Non-members or associates should visit the Alumni House on the USM campus to obtain alumni membership.

For more information, call the Alumni House, (801) 266-5013.

TENNIS CAMP

USM head tennis coach Larry (Doc) Harrington will hold his 1983 Big Gold Tennis Camp June 19-24. The camp is for co-ed beginners as well as for those ages nine through 17—or through seniors in high school. Several outstanding tennis instructors will be on hand for the weeklong camp.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Department of Conferences and Workshops at 801-266-4189.

Governor's Council on Fitness and Sports elected to President's Council affiliation

Mississippi's Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports has officially received affiliation status with the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

The Mississippi Council is the first in the nation to be granted that status by the Washington, D.C. office.

"We are extremely pleased, not only for what it means to the Governor's Council, but for the recognition it brings to our state," said Lee Dukes, executive director of the Mississippi Council.

To receive affiliate status, a Governor's Council must meet the requirements established by the President's Council. Those guidelines were established to ensure a cooperative effort between the federal and state entities.

Affiliation benefits include use of the President's Council logo on official publications, attendance by President's Council staff at state functions, sponsorship of President's Council regional clinics on physical fitness and sports, and support and consultation on programs and administrative matters.

Mississippi's Council will conduct the Magnolia State Games this summer, making the state just the fourth in the nation to host a statewide festival of amateur athletics.

Dukes, the agency's director, also serves as vice president of the National Association of Governors' Councils on Physical Fitness and Sports.

Glenn Swengros, director of federal-state relations for the President's Council, announced the affiliation status May 31.

Bay Parks Department sets free tennis clinic

The Bay St. Louis Parks and Playgrounds Department will begin tennis lessons Monday at 8 a.m.

Seven through 11-year-olds will report to Tiger Tennis Courts where the program will be under the supervision of Ricky Ladner.

The 12 through 16-year-olds will report to the St. Stanislaus Tennis Courts where the program will be supervised by Bro. Pascal, SC.

Both programs will be conducted Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays for a five-week period.

The lessons will be from 8 to 10 a.m.

There will be no charge or fees for the lessons, according to Billy Rhodes, department director.

Eagles sign Columbia golfer

Columbia High School golf standout Dan Drane has signed a grant-in-aid scholarship agreement with the University of Southern Mississippi according to Golden Eagle coach Teddy Bouchillon. His is USM's first golf signee of 1983. Drane was a Class A all-state selection at Columbia High School the past three seasons and was also selected as his team's most valuable player the past four seasons. He finished first in the District Seven high school tournament and claimed victories this past year in the Mississippi State Junior Invitational and the USM Coca-Cola Junior Invitational. The newest Eagle signee finished second in the Tri-State Junior Invitational.

Drane is also an excellent student, having been salutatorian of his class and active in several honor societies, including the National Honor Society, Who's Who Among American High School Students, the Beta Club and Mu Alpha Theta. He was also president of the student body and was voted the most likely to succeed.

Soccer player Dave Lovett of Derby, England, was once stopped with a fan-shilling fine for smiling at the referee.

Wildlife Commission claims authority to set season dates

The Commission on Wildlife Conservation says it should have full authority to set hunting seasons, dates, and bag limits in Mississippi.

At a meeting of the five-member board in Jackson recently, the commission adopted a policy statement which says in part that, "it is in the best interest of the state's wildlife resources the protection of sport hunting, and the people of Mississippi, that the authority to set all seasons, dates, and bag limits be vested in the commission. In its statement, the commission said that the Department of Wildlife Conservation employs a highly technical staff, "and clearly is the most reliable and competent agency in the state for efficient management of game and fish populations."

The statement went on to say that numerous Mississippi sportsmen clubs throughout the state provide population and harvest data which supplement and broaden the data base obtained by the department.

"The Department of Wildlife Conservation also conducts public hearings around the state each year and open monthly meetings of the commission provide ample opportunities for private citizens to have their views and opinions made known," according to the statement.

Bogalusa Striders to host Magic City Classic Saturday

The Bogalusa Striders will host their sixth annual Magic Classic road race Saturday.

The race will cover 5 kilometers (3.1 miles) and will commence and end at Cassidy Park.

Starting time is 7:30 a.m. and advance registration fees are $5 with the race day registration being $6.

The first and second men's finishers and the first women's finishers will be awarded trophies.

Also, trophies will be awarded in six men's and 4 women's age divisions. All runners will receive t-shirts.

As an extra feature, the race will be open for team entries for both men and women teams.

Each team must contain five members with the best three times used to determine the overall team time. All team members must register individually.

Men and women's team entry blanks and all individual entry blanks can be secured by writing the Bogalusa Striders, P.O. Box 1703, Bogalusa, Louisiana, 70427.

For additional information, contact race director Rick Brown, 504-732-4258 or 504-732-7064.

Safe Boating Week declared

President Reagan has signed a proclamation proclaiming this week as National Safe Boating Week.

In the announcement the president acknowledged that observance of proper safety practices is essential to the enjoyment of boating.

"Since learning the fundamentals of safe boating adds to the pleasure of boating, participants should take advantage of the many boating courses offered by federal and state agencies and private organizations," Reagan said.

In response to the announcement, Gov. William Winter has proclaimed this week beginning June 4 as National Safe Boating Week in Mississippi.

Student trainer workshop slated

The University of Southern Mississippi will conduct "Beginner Student Trainer and Advanced Student Trainer" workshops, June 23-26.

These will be intensive four-day workshops with practical experience being emphasized. Topics ranging from taping to emergency situations will be discussed.

Jim Gallaspy, assistant professor of athletic administration and coaching at USM, will direct the workshop.

Registration will be from 6 to 7 p.m., June 23, at the Field House, located at the north end of the Football Stadium.

For more information about the workshops, write to USM, Department of Conferences and Workshops, Southern Station Box 5056, Hattiesburg, MS 39406, or call (601) 266-4189.

USM offering gymnastics for 3-year-olds

The University of Southern Mississippi's Gymnastics Program will be holding its Tumbling Tots classes for girls and boys three years of age.

The classes will be held on June 28-July 19 from 5:30-6:15 p.m.

Another session will also be held on Thursdays, June 9-June 23 and June 30-July 21 from 9-9:45 a.m.

The program is structured into five basic areas: eye-hand coordination, locomotor skills, manipulative activities and gymnastics.

Interested participants may register up until class day at the Central Registration Office, Room 306, McLennore Hall from 8 a.m.-noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For information contact the Department of Community Services, Southern Station, Box 5056, Hattiesburg, MS 39406 or call (601) 266-4201.

HALL OF FAME

The recent induction of six new members into the University of Southern Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame hiked the total membership to 128.

There are an even 100 living members, including two still active in the National Football League—punter Ray Guy of the Los Angeles Raiders and defensive back Norris Thomas of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The induction of a 128th member is pending. John Sawyer, a tight end still active with the Seahawks of the NFL, was elected to the Hall in 1980 but was unable to attend the induction ceremonies.

necessary final tax returns, and shall further obtain the necessary tax clearance from the State Tax Commission, and that the officers of the corporation are hereby authorized to execute any and all documents necessary to ef-fectuate such dissolution.4. That the officers and directors be,
and they hereby are, empowered,
authorized and directed to proceed in accordance with the resolution hereby adopted by the stockholders and directors, said officers and directors being authorized to adopt any subsequent resolutions to effect the intent of the stockholders and directors to liquidate the corporation in accordance with the plan of liquidation adopted pursuant to Section 37 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.V. The number of shares of the corporation outstanding at the time of such adoption was 200, all of which were common shares and all of which were entitled to vote thereon, and none of which were entitled to vote as a class.VI. The number of shares voted for such resolution was 200, and the number of shares voted against such resolution was none.Dated: April 18, 1983

Lutheran Day Care Center stages first annual Awards Night event

The Lutheran Church of the Pines Day Care Center conducted its annual Award Night recently at the church on US-90 in Waveland.

Invocation was given by Reverend Lee Morris and guest speakers were Mrs. Linda Penrose and Sam Allison. Music for the program was selected and played by P. J. Mauffray.

Students receiving pre-nursery diplomas included Natalie Chosa, Ashley Combs, Johnny Coker, Jason Delle, April Ebrite, Shawn Freitas, Kelly Koenen, David May, Steven Mauffray, Keri Minchew, Justin Smith, and Sheri Weddington.

Those students receiving nursery school diplomas were Betsy Allison, Tiffany Auxilien, Jessica Bivens, Cory Bourgeois, Otto Bourgeois, Justin Delle, Chet Fayard, Mindi Godwin, Tyree Haynes, Mark Kip, Chintan Patel, Belle Penrose, and Ramon Ramos.

The preschool diplomas went to Michelle Bowser, Joanne Battaglia, Rebecca Ferrell, Casey Johnston, David Manasco, Jason Mauffray, Lee Morris, Helen Penrose, Jodi Pope, Matthew Pope, Cooter Seals, and Tony Shiyou.

Those students receiving diplomas and trophies for graduating to first grade were Chad Allison, Greta Mitchell, Taaya Dawson, Donnie Gaines, Jason Sandrock and Sheila Shafer.

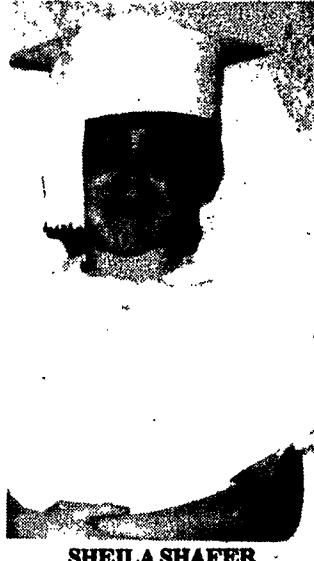

Trophies were also presented to two pre-school students who scored the highest on final tests — Joanne Battaglia and Jason Mauffray.

The staff of the Day Care Center receiving Certificates of Appreciation and flowers were Mrs. Clarine Mauffray, Mrs. Mary Johnston, Miss Paula Johnston, and Mrs. Jeanne Richardson.

Mrs. Judy Schuengel, director, was presented roses by the staff.

The program was closed with a prayer by Pastor John Helmers.

Refreshments were served at the center.

The soil carried down and spread out at the mouth of a river is called a delta because its triangular shape resembles the 4th letter of the Greek alphabet, called delta.

Elias, Bullard named assistants

In organizational changes at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast, scheduled to become effective July 1, Louis Elias, Jr. and George E. Bullard will become assistants to the dean.

Announcing the changes, USM-Gulf Coast Dean Joe E. Holloway said that Bullard will be assistant to the dean for academic coordination and Elias will be assistant for student services on the Long Beach campus.

In his new role Bullard will be responsible for managing the functional areas of scheduling, student advisement, recruitment and selection of part-time faculty.

Prior to assuming the new post Bullard was acting director of the Division of Business Administration, a position which has been abolished under the new plan.

Elias, as assistant to the dean for student services, will be responsible for admission and intake counseling, registration, business office functions, financial aid, veterans services, student recruitment, bookstore, evening monitors and placement bureau.

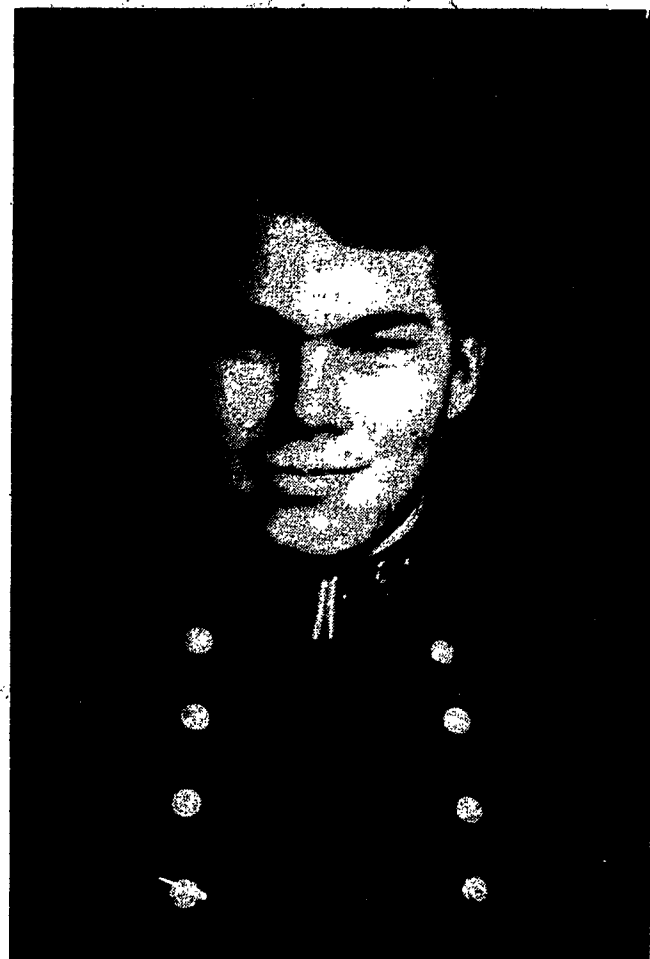

Elias was formerly director of student services, a position which has been abolished.

An additional change in the move as John Burch, formerly assistant dean, becoming full-time faculty in the area of business administration.

Under the new structure Holloway will work directly with the Gulf Coast faculty in the area of faculty development, coordinating closely with the academic deans and chairpersons in promoting improved teaching and faculty involvement in research and publication.

"This new structure offers a number of advantages. I will be able to work more closely with the resident faculty, we will delete one administrative position and the management team will provide the opportunity for continuous review, evaluation and planning for the effective operation and development of USM Gulf Coast programs," Holloway said.

In addition to Holloway, Bullard and Elias, the management team will be composed of Susan Fletcher, director of the Richard G. Cox Library; Bill Lee, director of Keesler Center; Jerry Reeves, director of Jackson County Center; and Donald Sigworth, director of physical plant.

ANNAPOLIS GRADUATE—Dennis R. Dickerson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Dickerson of Bay St. Louis, graduated from the United States Naval Academy May 25 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps. He will report to Marine Corps Basic School, Quantico, Va., for his first duty assignment. Lt. Dickerson is a graduate of Long Beach High School and a former Sea Coast Echo staff member. At the academy he earned a bachelor of science degree with a major in history.

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.
Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION—Although some people still use only a single drug to alter their moods — alcohol, marijuana, or tranquilizers, for example — an alarming number of persons use a variety of drugs. What percentage of Americans use two or more drugs?

- a) 85%
- b) 75%
- c) 65%
- d) 55%

ANSWER—Authorities report that 75% of patients in drug treatment programs today routinely use two or more drugs either simultaneously or sequentially. It is not uncommon for a heroin addict to be an alcoholic, and the heavy amphetamine user also may skip to heroin, cocaine, hallucinogens, and to alcohol as well.

Correct answer — b.

QUESTION—Unborn children whose mothers smoke during pregnancy:

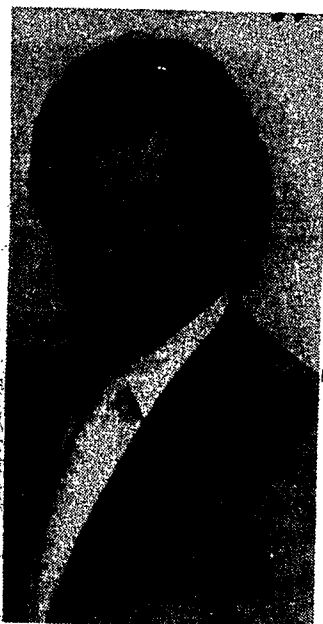

- a) May be stillborn because of her smoking
- b) May be mentally deficient because of her smoking
- c) Absorb nicotine with clear effects on their respiration and other vital signs
- d) All of the above

ANSWER—According to the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, all the above statements are true.

Correct answer — d.

Pass High honors high achievers

Pass Christian High School held its annual Scholastic Banquet on May 13, 1983 in the high school cafeteria.

Adrian J. Swann, principal, led the invocation and welcomed the parents, school board members, and other guests.

George Watson, assistant superintendent, presented a challenge to the achievers and then recognized students who had been named to the Principal's Honor Roll by awarding them certificates.

The students named were: Seniors: Timothy Allen, Traci Barfield, Nena Jacobs, Jamie Jenkins, Michael McKay, John Schramm, and Perry Torgeson.

Juniors: Lawrence Brown,

Tharion Cuevas, Lisa M. Johnson, Angela Ladner, Ron Ladner, Eric Pienas, and Julian Watson.

Sophomores: Kathryn Davis, Cheryl Himes, Tracy Landrum, Deborah McKay, Arnetta Payne, Sonya Pienas, Raeschele Smith, and Rhonda Wahl.

Freshmen: Lydia Bradley, William Carroll, and John Ladner Jr.

LeRoy Lizana, superintendent of schools, awarded certificates to students who had been named to the Superintendent's Honor Roll during the year. The students named were:

Seniors: Jeannette Bernard, Traci Bonney, Toni Bradley, Glenn Dedeaux, Tracy Dugue, Rae Lynne Ladner, Alice McKay, Deborah Marquez, Wendy Pitzer, and Julia Terrell.

Juniors: Valentine Dedeaux, Sharon Hayden, Minh Quang Ho, Matthew Ladner, Deborah Landry, Kelly Lockhart, Cu Cong Nguyen, Traci Pavolini, Annelore Schramm, Susan VanCourt, Cartrell Watts, Roslynn Webb, and Angela Zimmerman.

Sophomores: Dana Ashley, Joy Bradley, Karen Bradley, Alan Dedeaux, Herbert Dedeaux, Leonese Govan, Gertha Laurie, Tam Thi Nguyen, Sherrell Swannier, Thi Anh Tran, Thi Thee Tuy Tran, and Abby Van Calsem.

Freshmen: Tracy Lang,

Angela Moran, and Trang Thi Nguyen.

Superior Scholastic Achiever trophies were presented to the senior and to the underclassman who maintained the highest scholastic average for the 1982-83 school year. Senior recipient was Traci Bonney; Underclassman was Valentine Dedeaux.

Skin is the body's largest organ, weighing an average of five-and-one-half pounds.

Library, Bay PD sponsoring child identification event

It is the nightmare of all parents — a child leaves for school one morning and never arrives; a teenager, after an argument over using the family car, says he's going to visit a friend and is never seen again; a divorced parent, angry and bitter over a custody settlement, abducts his or her own children and leaves the state without a trace.

Although there are no exact statistics, it is estimated that between one and two million children run away from home each year. At least 100,000 children are abducted by a parent involved in a custody battle. An estimated 50,000 children simply disappear each year.

Many children eventually return home; some are found almost by accident years later; many are never heard from again.

Perhaps worst of all, according to the Bay St. Louis Police Department, thousands of children are found dead each year, but cannot be identified.

In searching for children or identifying those found dead or alive, law enforcement agencies have been hampered in their efforts because of the lack of records on young children.

In an effort to provide parents with identification on their children, the Bay St. Louis Police Department and the Hancock County Library System are co-sponsoring a finger-printing and child identification program during June.

On June 13, 20, and 27 Sergeant Joseph Pica, identification officer for the Bay St. Louis police department, will be stationed at the City-County Public Library on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. to provide finger-printing service and answer questions from parents.

The program is free and voluntary. Children must be accompanied by their parents or legal guardian who will fill out a finger-printing request form.

Pica will finger-print the child and give the set of prints to the parent for safe-keeping. A spokesman emphasizes that no records or prints will be kept by the department.

Since children worry about things they don't understand, the department recommends that before children are finger-printed, the parent should carefully explain to the child what is going to happen.

A police spokesman also points out that it is wise to explain that it is being done so the child will have an identification record like his parent's drivers' license, social security card, or job identification card.

The library will provide parents with an information packet on what to do in the event a child is missing; a list of organizations and hotlines connected with missing and runaway children; and a list of records recommended by the Bay St. Louis Police Department that should be maintained by parents.

According to Douglas Williams, Bay St. Louis chief of police, the first hours of an investigation into a missing child are crucial.

"Bay St. Louis police initiate an investigation immediately upon receiving a report of a missing child," he said.

"Much time can be wasted trying to gather information on a child at a time when the parents are distraught and least able to help law enforcement officers."

"We hope all parents will compile a file on their children that can be given to police investigators upon reporting a missing child," he continued.

The file should contain finger-prints; current photographs; dental and medical information; and a list of scars or other identifying marks on the child.

In addition, a written list of the child's habits and schedules; the names and ad-resses of friends and out-of-town relatives should be included. Parents may also want to include a cassette tape recording of the child's voice which can be used for voice analysis.

According to the police department, the child identification program's goal is to enable law enforcement agencies to find children alive, but if nothing else, at least parents will know what happened to their child.

For more information, the public can call the Bay St. Louis Police Department at 467-9221 or City-County Public Library at 467-5282.

ETV Brief

YOUNGEST DAIRYMAN
Tony Fazio, at age 18, is probably the youngest dairy farmer in Mississippi.

A profile of this Harrison County teenager at work on the farm he has owned and operated since he was 16 will be broadcast on "Farmweek" at 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 13, on Mississippi ETV.

Weather forecasts, farm news, market analyses and reports, production tips and notification of upcoming agricultural events in the state are covered on every "Farmweek" program. The series is co-produced by Mississippi ETV.

BIKE-A-THON BEGINS—Participating in the start of the annual Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Bike-A-thon at the intersection of Beach Boulevard and Main Street in that city Saturday morning are, from left, Nicholas (Mock) Bass, an unidentified observer; Cyril Glover, club secretary-treasurer; David Trivette, Rotary Board of Directors member; Charles Holtzman; Jim Evans, club president; Maurice Oddy; Clancy McMahon; Mark Uram, Rotary vice president; Dick Kosbab;

Phil Langston, bike-a-thon chairman; Russell Chapman; and Cathy Evans. The annual event is a fund-raiser to support Rotary community service activities. Donations were pledged for each mile ridden by an individual bicyclist in the approximate 15-mile course from the intersection to Oceanview State Park in Waveland and back to the starting point. NEVER GET SMART—Bay St. Louis Little Theatre players, from left, Frank Gray, Randolph Bourgeois and Charles Carter rehearse "Never Get Smart with An Angel," the theatre's first offering in its 38th season which opens Thursday, June 16. (Gulf Publishing Co. photo)

Bay thespians to strain Irish-Italian relations

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present the opening play of its 38th season, Never Get Smart with An Angel, Thursday through Saturday evenings, June 16, 17 and 18, at 8:15 p.m. at the playhouse on Boardman Avenue.

The two-act comedy is directed by Mary Carter.

Upstairs over a shoe store early in the 1940's, Salvatore

Bustebritzio (Randolph C. Bourgeois), a man of truly monumental temperament, and Carmine Sostenuato (Charles E. Carter), Salvatore's best friend who is equally emotional though more controlled, alternately collide and collaborate over the problems life in America presents to them—most notably, the announcement by Paolo (T.R. Bourgeois), Salvatore's son, that he wishes to marry the lovely but hopelessly Anglo-Irish Dorothy Boothe (Cyndy Rentz). Besides Carmine's invaluable aid, Salvatore receives angelic (and not-so-angelic) advice from his departed wife Lucia (Jeanne Marie Bell) who appears whenever he needs her, and from a plethora of plaster saints who revolve in and out of favor with dizzying rapidity.

Into this maelstrom of Mediterranean madness strides John Willis Boothe (Frank Gray), Dorothy's teetotaling, banker father whose flinty, Scotch-Irish personality strikes sparks even from unflappable Carmine but positively ignites the volatile Salvatore. Season tickets, $10 for all three 1983 productions, are still available by calling Dorothy Marochino, 467-7227 or Peggy Dutton, 467-1860. Tickets may also be purchased at the door, $4 on the nights of the performances.

Car Questions & Answers

Interior Car Maintenance

The key to keeping a car interior looking good is frequent cleaning. The sooner you remove dirt, the less chance it has of setting as an abrasive to wear down your car's carpet and seats. Now, let's take a look at how, with a little effort and some tips from the CARQUEST Corporation, you can keep your car's interior sparkling clean and bright.

CARPETING

The key to keeping automobile carpets in good shape is frequent vacuuming.

First, vacuum the entire car, including the trunk, and use a damp rag to clean the door panels.

To remove stains, use a good quality carpet cleaner on the stain as soon as possible. The longer you wait, the less chance that the stain will come out completely.

Small holes in the carpet can be repaired by patching them with pieces of carpet from under the front edge of the back seat. Simply lift the seat and remove a piece of carpet. Then replace the hole and glue the patch into place. When the glue is dry, brush the carpet. Press—the hole is gone.

SEATS

Care of the seats depends on the type of material they are made of. Be sure the cleaning product selected is correct for your seats. Read the label—there are special products for vinyl, for fabric and for leather. Test a new cleaning product on an out-of-the-way spot such as the lower seat cushion time to hidden by the upper seat back.

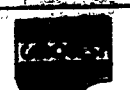

To protect vinyl and leather seats, door panels and dashboards from the summer's hot sun, use one of the protective vinyl sprays that are on the market. This will keep the seats and dash from drying out, cracking and fading.

DASHBOARD

To clean the dash, use a mild detergent. Don't forget to remove the ashtray and wash it thoroughly with soap and water.

For cleaning and polishing tires, use a liquid car wax. To clean glass gauge faces, use a commercial glass cleaner. For plastic, use a plastic cleaner.

The longer your car sits away from the sun with just a little effort each week—effort that is very worthwhile when it comes time to sell. Washing it daily makes sense to keep your car looking clean, then is where you spend all your time while using the vehicle.

"Behind an able man there are always other able men." Chinese proverb

Children's accidents take no vacation

Summer vacation is a dangerous time of year for school-age children. Three times more boys between the ages of six and 16 were killed in automobile accidents in August than in September of 1981, the most recent year for which statistics are complete.

Nearly half the fatal accidents involving school-age children occur during the three months of the year when school is not in session.

As children have more time for recreation, summer work and just "messing around," the chances of an accident increases.

Farm Safety Specialist Dannie Reed, with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, said there are several simple things parents can do to reduce the summertime dangers to their children.

If a young person is told how to spot and avoid situations in which accidents are likely to occur, and is restricted from dangerous activities, he or she has a great advantage toward avoiding a tragic accident," he said.

Reed pointed out that many activities are not dangerous when carried out properly, but become dangerous when a heavy dose of youthful exuberance is added.

A safe ride on a three-wheeler is possible, but only when using a helmet, off public roads, without passengers, and with precautions recommended by manufacturers.

Speed, extra riders and lack of helmets are fatal combinations with recreational vehicles.

"One very common cause of serious accidents is riding in the back of pickups, on trailers or tractors," Reed said. "There will be several kids in the back and the driver will be heading down a country road toward the swimming hole and hit a good sized bump and all of a sudden someone isn't back there anymore."

The presence of an adult supervisor is not a guarantee of safety. Reed encouraged parents to check to be sure that an adequate number of safety-minded people will be in charge of youth activities.

"It's amazing how many times you will have an adult who can't swim in charge of a boating trip, or one who stands on the dock at the lake ready to throw a rope and hope it reaches the mark," he pointed out.

Idle time is often a time of tragedy for children. Reed said of school-ages, "If they can get on top of it—they'll climb up, if they can get under it they will crawl under, and then either fall off it or it falls on them.

"Kids'll dig around in the most remote places, and young kids are very likely to come across a chemical that's been left where they can get to it.

"During the summer months parents must be especially careful about leaving chemicals where they can be gotten into or equipment where it can be gotten under. There was one incident of an old planter that had been left leaning up against a wall, a child was playing hide-and-seek or just poking around, and got behind it. It slid down and killed him."

During the summer many young people will have jobs. Reed suggested that parents not assume that the child's boss is going to be as safety conscious as they would be.

"Be certain that your son or daughter has been given adequate training on any equipment that he or she will be operating, and that proper safety devices and procedures are in place," he said.

Here in Hancock County most summertime accidents involve lawn mowers and tractors. Be sure that rock guards are in place on mowers before you let your children use them. Supervise them when they refuel the mower, there were several incidents of serious injuries from refueling fires in Mississippi last year.

Before you decide that this is the summer when your child is old enough to drive the tractor, be sure the child is familiar with safety features and practices involved with tractor operation.

For more information contact the Hancock Extension office at 405 Neace Ave. in Bay St. Louis.

State Historical Museum symposium, exhibit to explore Jewish immigrant contributions

Some of Mississippi's most important cultural and educational institutions and businesses — the Opera House and Marks, Rotherberg and Co. in Meridian, and the Peabody Public School in Summit, for example — were established by early Jewish immigrants to the state who brought with them strong concerns in education, business, and culture.

It is this contribution that will be examined in an exhibit through August 28 at the State Historical Museum. The two events are made possible, in part, by the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities.

Jewish people came to the United States from France to escape the oppressive climate in Europe following the Revolution; they came to escape the turmoil of Poland; they left despotic rule by a new German empire; and they fled from anti-Semitic policies of the Russian government.

Most Jewish people, who came to the United States and to Mississippi during the nineteenth century, came to escape the oppression in their own countries.

Since that time, much of Mississippi business, cultural, and civic history is owed to the involvement of its relatively small, yet significant, Jewish citizenry. Since Jews were prohibited from owning land and living as farmers in many European countries, they lived mostly in cities and followed urban trades. Consequently, when Jews came to Mississippi, they lived mostly in towns and engaged in business and trade rather than farming.

Many of the state's Jewish settlers were at first peddlers, then merchants, leaders of fraternal orders, politicians, landowners, civil servants, professionals, and Confederate soldiers.

The symposium, at 3 p.m., June 5, will examine Jewish history in the South, and will be moderated by Dr. David Rosenberg of the University of Mississippi history department.

Dr. Louis Schmier, Valdosta State University, Valdosta, Ga., and a descendant of early Jewish settlers in North Florida and South Georgia, will present an overview of scholarship and research on southern Jewish history.

Ms. Rachelle H. Saltzman, Center for Southern Folklore, Memphis, will describe that organization's project, "Jewish Heritage of the Mid-South," which documents the traditions, folklife, and social history of the Jewish community in Memphis and the mid-South.

The remaining two participants, Rabbi Leo and Mrs. Evelyn Turitz, formerly of Meridian, and now of Laguna Hills, Calif., will discuss their methodology of researching Mississippi Jewish roots, which has culminated in their writing a book, Jews in Early Mississippi, published by the University Press of Mississippi.

The exhibit, "Jewish Roots in Mississippi," includes documents, photographs, artifacts, and religious and ceremonial objects from Jewish families in Mississippi, families originally from Mississippi now living elsewhere, and the Turitzes' collection.

The Turitzes began working with the Museum in 1980, planning the exhibit and symposium in conjunction with the release of their book.

Copies of all data and photographs gathered by them are being made for the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, of which the Museum is a part.

The public is cordially invited to attend the symposium and to view the exhibit free of charge. The book, Jews in Early Mississippi, will be available for purchase and signing by the Turitzes. An exhibit poster will also be available in the Old Capitol Sales Shop.

The Mississippi Committee for the Humanities, which is providing partial funding for the project, is an independent, nonpartisan, non-political organization funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities and private donations.

The Committee's primary objective is to shed light on the public policy issues of today by examining the larger value questions involved through the use of philosophy, literature, history, and other disciplines in the humanities.

For more information about the Jewish exhibit and symposium, or any other exhibits and programs of the State Historical Museum, call 354-5222.

London Program includes Sherlock Holmes course

Super sleuth, Sherlock Holmes, is undoubtedly one of the most famous fictional characters ever created. He is so famous, in fact, that many people not only believe he existed but that he still exists.

"Every week letters are sent to London from throughout the world addressed to Sherlock Holmes of 221B Baker Street," says University of Southern Mississippi English Professor Kim Herzinger. "They have to hire someone just to answer the Sherlock Holmes mail."

As a part of the larger USM British Studies Program Herzinger will be teaching a course in London this summer called "Studies in Sherlock Holmes." Participants in the July 9 through August 13 session will be housed in the London boroughs of Chelsea and Bloomsbury.

"Both are wonderful parts of London and quite near the spots where Holmes himself had some of his most famous cases and are perfect for looking at 'Sherlockiana,'" says Herzinger.

In addition to a "Jack the Ripper" tour of Whitechapel and a visit to Madame Tussaud's Black Museum, the course will feature walks through parts of London haunted by Holmes, attendance at Sherlock Holmes Society functions, films, stage presentations, study of the Holmes stories and novels and lectures by some of the most prominent Sherlockians in the world.

Speakers will include Michael Harrison who has written or edited six books on Sherlock and is an expert on the London of Holmes' era and Julian Symons, president of the Detective Club of England and author of detective fiction.

The Sherlock Holmes course is one of three courses in literature which will be offered by the USM British Studies Program this summer.

"The Legend of King Arthur," taught by USM Professor Charles Moorman, will deal with the genesis, development and significance of the Arthurian legend in all its forms. The course will also feature world famous Arthurian scholar Geoffrey Ashe, among others.

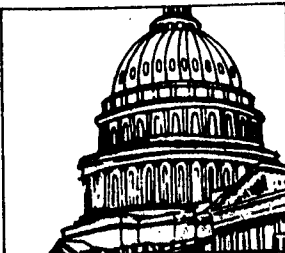

"Contemporary Drama and the British Stage" will be taught by USM Professors Angela Ball and David Wheeler. It will explore current British drama through the study of major British playwrights and will feature lectures by a number of the most famous actors, directors, playwrights and critics in England.

Interested persons in the London program should contact Dr. Herzinger at Box 5037, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, MS 39406 or Dr. Bill Taylor, USM Box 5151.

SOCIAL SECURITY Your Social Security

Prepared by the American Academy of Actuaries, a non-profit professional association.

Q. I've heard that Social Security may be facing a deficit of $150 to $200 billion over the next seven years. Is this true, and how was such a figure arrived at?

A. What you heard is true. The National Commission on Social Security Reform, a blue ribbon presidential panel studying Social Security's financing difficulties, agreed that the system is facing such a deficit. The Commission's short-term forecasts were based on pessimistic assumptions of how the economy will perform in the coming years.

Actuaries played a key role in making these forecasts. Some of the figures they looked at in determining the $150-$200 billion shortfall were: 1) future increases in wages and prices, 2) unemployment rates, 3) life expectancy, and 4) retirement age.

Sometimes called "social mathematicians," actuaries are professionals trained in the science of mathematical probabilities and finance. They project the financial effects that uncertain future events—birth, marriage, sickness, accident, fire, liability, retirement, and death—have on insurance and benefit plans. Using mathematical skills, actuaries design financially sound insurance and benefit programs.

Professional workshops, seminars listed

MANAGEMENT

A one-day seminar of "Project Management: Planning, Scheduling and Control" will be held June 15 at the University of New Orleans. Roy J. Loring, a principal of Project Management Associates, International consulting firm, will conduct the seminar, which will run from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in the UNO University Center.

The seminar will also be offered June 14 at the Holiday Inn Medical Center, Jackson; June 16 at the Chateau Motel Hotel, Shreveport; and June 17 at the Holiday Inn Downtown Medical Center, Birmingham.

Sponsored by the UNO College of Business Administration, the seminar is designed to help project managers develop and coordinate a total project plan, determine objective, use scheduling tools, motivate and direct a project team, install schedule cost controls and control and evaluate a project.

Loring has over 16 years experience with engineering and construction firms specializing in project management, project proposal management and marketing of technical services for the petroleum, chemical, petrochemical and energy industries. For further information on the seminar, call UNO at (504) 286-6248.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION

The University of Southern Mississippi Center for Community Education is offering a Community Education workshop, June 20-24.

The workshop will explain the concept of community education and its potential for broadening the base of support of community members, agencies and organizations in education, according to Dr. William Hetrick, workshop director.

Teachers and administrators participating in the workshop will learn strategies for starting community education, the role of the community education director, and about conducting needs assessments and surveys.

McLemore Hall will be the site of registration June 20 from 8-9 a.m. For more information contact conferences and workshops at (601) 266-4189.

The University of Southern Mississippi Department of Theatre and Dance is offering a Dramatics workshop June 13-17 and July 11-15 at USM Gulf Park.

The workshop will be identical and will familiarize teachers with the basic techniques of theatre which can be applied to classroom presentations according to Rita Sheffield, director of the Sheffield Ensemble Theatre and workshop director.

Elementary and secondary school teachers participating in the workshop will learn about such areas as creative dramatics, acting, directing, stage makeup, lighting and costumes.

The Sheffield Ensemble Theatre, 138 Lameuse, Biloxi, will be the site of registration June 13 and July 11 from 9-10 a.m. For more information contact Conferences and Workshops at 864-2155.

RECOVERED FROM HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Here again we have two classifications for high blood pressure, 1. Essential hypertension and 2. Organic Hypertension. The medical cause of Essential or Primary Hypertension has not been definitely established, but they have learned to observe and keep it under control to some extent with drugs, as they do with other conditions. Contemporary concepts that the cause of any condition exists within the body and that it must be found before sound care can be given. Authorities in our field point out that often the nervous system plays the dominant role in bringing about these conditions, and if the person so suffering can be given to have nerve interference and it can be removed, this procedure will enhance the chances for the patient's recovery.

Forensics & Yearbook
Camps and workshops for students and teachers involved in forensics and yearbook production, all beginning June 13, highlight the University of Southern Mississippi Division of Communication's Summer offerings.

Offered for the first time, Managing the Forensics program, June 13-17, is a workshop designed to introduce the fundamentals of managing and coaching forensics activities. The workshop will prepare teachers to be coaches and judges of such activities as debate, extemporaneous speaking, oral interpretation and oratory, according to director Dr. Susan Siltanen.

No experience is necessary for this workshop which will run concurrently with the forensics camp for high school students. The camp ends with a mini-tournament and workshop participants will gain experience in judging the tournament.

The 1983 Debate and Individual Events Camp, June 13-18, will introduce the fundamentals of competitive debate and individual events to beginning students and refine the competitive skills of experienced students.

No debate experience is required since students will be grouped by beginning, intermediate or advanced categories. The camp will include class sessions, library orientation and research and will conclude with the mini-tournament and an awards ceremony.

Camp personnel will be from the USM Speech Communication Department, according to Dr. Siltanen, who at one time taught high school English in Florida before joining the department. She is director of USM's on campus debate program and Mississippi's liaison with the National Discussion and Debate Program.

Other faculty members participating are Dr. Lawrence Hosman who debated in high school and for four years at the University of Missouri at Kansas City.

Dr. Marsha Stanback, who competed for our years in oral interpretation in the Berkeley Forum at Emory University and Dr. Charles Tardy, who debated for four years at Mississippi State University and was a Mississippi Youth Congress participant for five years.

The yearbook camp for students, June 13-18, will instruct students on techniques needed to compile yearbooks or annuals. A separate session will be held for yearbook photographers.

Registration for both workshops and camps will be at 8 a.m. June 13 in the lobby of McLemore Hall. For additional information contact Conferences and Workshops at (601) 266-4189.

Summer workshops, seminars reported

BAND CLINIC
Auxiliary band unit members, twirlers, drum majors and majorettes from across the Mid-South are expected to attend The University of Mississippi Mid-South Half Time and Time Out Clinic June 26-30.

Majorette corps, flag corps, rifle teams, dance units and color guards will receive instruction in parade and half time routines, team twirling, precision dance, stand activities, showmanship and program planning.

Individual baton twirlers and majorettes can enroll in beginning, intermediate and advanced twirling, and will study acrobatics, strutting and novelty and show twirling. Drum majors and majorettes will concentrate on baton signals, verbal commands, precision drill and marching, showmanship, field and parade formations and maneuvers, leadership training, and ideas for assisting the band director.

Clinic directors Jack and Shirley DeVenney are internationally recognized twirling and dance teachers and competition judges.

Mrs. DeVenney, who was featured twirler with the Ole Miss Rebel Band, is former Dance Twirl Teacher of the Year and Corps Director of the Year.

DeVenney, a former national champion drum major, is the author of articles for rifle and silks spinning, novelty twirling and drilling, and is a former National Baton Twirlers Association Judge of the Year.

Students of the DeVenneys and the 1983 staff hold national titles for solo rifles, silks, sabres, drum major performance, junior and senior twirling championships, Junior Miss Majorette of America, and Grand National Twirling Champion.

Clinic staff members have been selected from major colleges and universities throughout the United States and are skilled in teaching the newest routines and latest techniques.

Cost of the 1983 clinic is $85 per student and includes instruction, housing and accident insurance. Meals are not included. Adult sponsors may register for $30, which covers housing costs.

Sponsors who plan to attend classes should pay the full student fee. A $45 deposit should be included with each pre-registration, with the balance due at first day of the clinic.

The 1983 Mid-South Half Time and Time Out Clinic is being coordinated by the Ole Miss Division of Continuing Education. More information on the clinic is available through the Division of Continuing Education, The University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677, telephone 601-232-7140.

LANGUAGE CAMPS
Intensive language learning experiences in French and Spanish will be offered to high school students this summer in two special camps at The University of Mississippi.

Camp Francais, offered for the first time last year, and a new camp, Camp espanol, are scheduled simultaneously

June 14-24 on the Ole Miss campus. Both are being coordinated by the Ole Miss Division of Continuing Education.

These unique summer enrichment programs offer no formal classroom lectures; instead, students develop a thematic vocabulary by working in conversation groups with native speakers of the two languages.

According to French camp director Dr. Jack Davis Brown and Dr. Carol E. Klein, director of the Spanish camp, the camps will not feature "total" immersion, where the languages are spoken at all times, but rather an enjoyable week of French of Spanish life, with unlimited opportunities to use conversation in the languages in a program built around interesting activities.

Drama, shopping excursions, trips to the beach, sports, cooking, special films, card and board games in the evenings and French and Spanish television programs are planned for participants in each camp.

In conjunction with the French and Spanish camps for high school students, a pre-camp workshop for language majors will begin Tuesday, June 14, continuing through the camps for students which will end June 24. Instructor for the Spanish workshop will be Dr. Teresa R. Arrington of the Ole Miss modern languages faculty. Dr. Brown will direct the French workshop.

To be eligible, a student must have completed the ninth grade and one year of high school language study in French, or Spanish, and must be recommended by a high school language teacher.

More information and application materials are available from Dr. Brown or Dr. Klein at the Department of Modern Languages, University, MS 38677, telephone 601/232-7298, or from the division of Continuing Education, University, MS 38677, telephone 601/232-7282.

YEARBOOK CLINIC
The University of Mississippi 1983 Summer Yearbook Clinic for members of the annual staffs of participating schools will be held June 20-23 on the Oxford campus.

The clinic will be conducted by the staff of the Taylor Publishing Company of Jackson and Dallas, Texas, and is coordinated by the Ole Miss Division of Continuing Education.

Class sessions begin Monday, June 20, and will emphasize approaches to writing, editing and layout, financial and business problems, photography and art work, typography, scheduling production, and staff organization.

Emphasis will be placed on the operations involved in producing publications and participants will receive instruction in planning their own high school yearbooks. An awards luncheon will be held after the judging of individual projects.

Clinic participants will be housed in modern air-conditioned dormitories, and the sports and recreational facilities on the Ole Miss campus will be available during free-time periods.

Cost of the clinic is $90 per person and includes housing, tuition, materials and clinic activities. Meals are not included in the fee, but meals are available at the University cafeteria for approximately $8 a day. A $50 deposit is required with each pre-registration, with the balance due the first day of the clinic.

Students are asked to pre-register through the University's Division of Continuing Education, and to register from 9 a.m. through noon on Monday, June 20, in the lobby of Brown Dormitory on campus. More information about the clinic is available through the Division of Continuing Education, The University of Mississippi, University, MS 38677, telephone 601/232-7140.

PHONICS

The Phonics workshop at the University of Southern Mississippi will provide information on teaching phonics for elementary teachers, June 27-July 1.

The workshop is designed for regular and remedial elementary and special education teachers and will emphasize vowels, consonants, special spelling combinations, syllabication and phonetic respelling.

Topics include remediation, teaching aids, physical and musical methods, use of computers and use of children's literature in teaching phonics. The workshop is directed by Dr. Janie Arnold Allen of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction.

Registration will be from 8-9 a.m. June 27 in the Lobby of McLemore Hall. Workshop sessions will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
